MacDonad Is Given Formal Invitation To Visit Capital of U.S.

President Roosevelt Expects to Discuss Problems of World-wide Extent With British Prime Minister

Premier Hopes To Sail on April 15

Canadian Press and Associated Press
Washington, April 6.—Premier MacDonad of Great Britain to-day was formally invited to visit President Roosevelt in Washington to talk over world problems.

The State Department, in a brief announcement, said:
"The President's invitation to Prime Minister MacDonad was handed to the British Ambassador this morning. Arrangements are being made for simultaneous release of the text in London and Washington."

It was understood the British Prime Minister plans to sail in about ten days for a visit to Washington during the Easter recess of the House of Commons.

IN COMMONS
London, April 6.—Premier MacDonad in the Commons to-day made something of a mystery of his suggested Easter trip to Washington.

He turned queries aside with a joke, but left the impression he intended to go, with one of the objectives of his visit hurrying of the date of the opening of the World Economic Conference.

Asked whether there was any truth in a statement the Prime Minister would proceed to America, and what was the object of his visit, Mr. MacDonad replied:

"The Easter holiday is coming, and I hope the Prime Minister can use the opportunity as he thinks fit."

One, after commenting that nobody in the House would dream of interfering with the Prime Minister's plans, added: "But may I ask if this visit is going to have any effect in postponement of the date for the World Economic Conference?"

Mr. MacDonad replied: "Quite the opposite, I hope to hurry it up."

NEWSPAPER COMMENT
London, April 6.—Premier MacDonad's projected 6,000-mile round trip for only a few days' talk with President Roosevelt at Washington stirred up no enthusiasm in the British press to-day.

Present plans call for his departure on April 15 aboard the steamship Berengaria, accompanied by his daughter, Isabel, and three Treasury officials. He must return soon after parliament will reconvene ten days later.

The man in the street's first thought concerning the trip dwelt to-day on the long-promised final settlement of the war debt and he found his idea supported in a section of the press. But a wider view was taken in more informed quarters where the debt is regarded as only one of the many problems for discussion.

The reception of the tentative arrangements for his trip in the newspapers to-day varied from derision in one journal through doubt to well-wishing in others, but there was no exuberant comment.

THE LONDON DAILY TELEGRAPH warned its readers not to set their expectations too high in hoping the Prime Minister would achieve an amicable understanding between Great Britain and the United States.

"Let him remember his attempt is a hazard and a hazard of a kind which may be repeated once too often," it added.

It was feared all aboard were lost, but the number of passengers and crew could not be learned immediately.

SURTAX BILL BEFORE HOUSE

Succession Duty Increase Explained to Legislature

Liberal Leader Recalls How Conservative Promised to Wipe Them Out

The present government's attitude in increasing succession duties by the surtax called for in the Jones budget was sharply contrasted with the Conservative election promise to do away with the duties during the second reading of the bill in the Legislature yesterday.

Hon. R. L. Maitland, K.C., Minister Without Portfolio, moved the second reading of the bill. He explained it called for a 50 per cent surtax to apply to all taxes collected at the present time. In 1930 all insurance was exempted. This year the exemption was cut down to $25,000 paid to preferred beneficiaries. There was an exemption on all property up to $20,000. As an instance a widow would get exemption from duties on property up to $20,000 and insurance up to $25,000.

T. D. Pattullo recalled the attitude taken by Conservatives before they were in power. They were going to do away with succession duties altogether. They said the population would increase. The birds and the sparrows would come from California. Millions would be invested. Excessively the only criticism he had to offer now was to recall how Conservatives had said they would do away with them.

First Pictures Of Dirigible Akron Survivors

Lieut. Commander H. V. Wiley, No. 1 in the picture above, will be the chief witness at the inquiry into the loss of the U.S. naval dirigible Akron with seventy-three of its complement of seventy-six in the Atlantic off the New Jersey Coast early last Tuesday morning. Just two days after the three survivors were landed at the Brooklyn navy yard The Times is able to present the above picture to its readers as a result of the fact now sent across the continent by telephoto and reached The Times this morning from Seattle. This is a speed record for pictures from the Atlantic seaboard that has been equaled only once or twice. The photo was taken as Seaman Richard Deal was being carried off the destroyer Tucker to the wharf on a stretcher. Besides Lieutenant-Commander Wiley, who was second-in-command of the Akron, the only other survivor is Seaman Moody Ervin, No. 2 in the picture. He was wrapped in a blanket when the camera found him. The three were flown to Washington yesterday and reported directly to the Navy Department on the disaster. A picture of the U.S. naval blimp J-3 which was wrecked while hunting for Akron survivors, appears on Page 2.

Royal City Police Hunt Man Who Tried To Burn Big Building

Fire Started in Packing Plant of Swift Canadian Company Extinguished; Man Believed to Be Criminal Who Operated Last Year

New Westminster, April 6.—Intensive investigation is being conducted by city police into an attempt to burn the half-million-dollar Swift Canadian Company limited packing plant at Sapperton.

It is believed the firebug who stalked the Sapperton district last year and attempted to set fire to several buildings and who is thought to have been responsible for the almost total destruction of St. Mary's Anglican Church a few months ago, is at work again.

Similar methods were used in the attempted to set fire to several buildings those that were employed in the destruction of St. Mary's church.

When smoke was seen issuing from the main Swift Canadian building, employees found flames extending to a pile of empty barrels from a 50-pound butter box which had been filled with paper and cedar shingle wood, on top of which a candle had been placed and lighted. The paper and kindling were covered with sacking, an inlet being allowed for draft.

SIX ATTEMPTS
It was the sixth attempt in the last twelve months to set buildings afire in the Sapperton area.

Historic St. Mary's Anglican Church was burned on the second attempt. The "Queensbury School" the Sapperton grandstand and a private house situated alongside a brewery plant.

Cartage Association of B.C. Says Government's New License Scale Too High

Canadian Press
Vancouver, April 6.—Over signature of their president, E. Ames, the General Storage and Cartage Association of British Columbia has telegraphed a protest to Attorney-General R. H. Brown, opposing proposed increases in truck licenses.

While the members fully appreciate the need for increased government revenue, says the communication, they protest emphatically against the proposed increases. It is not equitable that heavy trucks should be called on to cover decreases in license fees for lighter vehicles, they contend.

Leader of Liberal Party In Province Suggests Meighen Resign From Commission

JAMES T. ADAMS PREDICTS BOOM

New York, April 6.—Dr. James Truslow Adams, who says his prediction of the Wall Street market crash in 1929 was "very unpopular," now sees the possibility of a "stupendous boom" in America. "I look to see recovery within the next two years, and possibly within one," said the banker-turned-historian to-day.

TWO HURT IN TRUCK CRASH

"Hunger Marchers" in Accident on Return to Up-island Points
Twenty-five People Shaken Up When Truck Leaves Road; Woman's Eye Injured

Two persons were taken to hospital for treatment after a truck, carrying "hunger marchers" back to their homes, turned over just north of Duncan late yesterday evening, according to reports received here.

Names of the injured persons were not ascertained. One was a woman and the other a man and they are believed to be Nanaimo residents.

Two truckloads of "marchers" left for up-island after visiting the capital for a demonstration on Tuesday. One was in charge of H. Whiffen and the other driven by a man named Bowden.

According to the report, Bowden's truck, carrying about twenty-five people, slipped off the road and overturned when rounding a bend in the highway, a short distance north of Duncan. The occupants were all shaken up and the woman sustained a serious eye injury.

The truck was not badly damaged and after righting the "marchers" continued on their way.

NEW LOAN BILL FOR $10,000,000

Covers Over $7,000,000 Deficits, Including Unemployment Last Year

The new loan bill before the British Columbia Legislature to-day was for $10,000,000, over $7,000,000 of which is to cover deficits of the last fiscal year and $3,000,000 of which will be used for unemployment relief and other purposes during the current fiscal year.

The bill also covers $1,800,000 for unemployment relief financing during the last fiscal year.

An exclamation of "what!" followed by a prolonged whistle from A. M. Johnston, K.C., when the bill was brought down.

Hon. J. W. Jones, Finance Minister, briefly explained his reasons for needing the $10,000,000.

The high figure of the new loan bill was the source of more comment this morning. It was reported to be the highest loan bill for consolidated revenue ever brought down, although the present administration had previously brought down a loan bill for $15,000,000. This, however, included heavy public expenditures, while the present bill in the main is to cover deficits.

Sixty per cent of the money had been expended, Mr. Jones explained at this morning's session of the House. It provided for no new borrowings except for unemployment relief.

T. D. Pattullo, Opposition Leader, thought there was no guarantee the $3,000,000 would be used for unemployment. There was nothing to prevent it being used for the deficit which would occur this year and in spite of what the minister said he predicted there would be a $5,000,000 deficit.

George S. Pearson, Liberal, Nanaimo, asked for information on loans and deficits to be presented when the bill was brought down.

SCHOLARSHIP FOR COLLEGE

The plan to give power to the Board of Governors of the University of British Columbia to grant a scholarship to a student from the Victoria College was explained by Hon. Joshua Minch, Minister of Education, when the bill was given second reading in the Legislature yesterday. There was no discussion or opposition to the plan.

SOLDIER LOST HALF HIS TEETH

Pensions Tribunal Also Hears Innoculation Gave Recruiting Sergeant Many Ills

One of the best known race horse trainers on the Pacific Coast before the Great War, who enlisted in 1915, took the stand before the Pensions Tribunal here to-day and ascribed the cause of his physical ills to the way he was handled by army dentists who pulled out half his teeth and gave him nothing in their place.

"When I joined the army my teeth were in perfectly good shape, but when I got to Bramshott Camp in England they had a dental parade and pulled out ten or eleven of my teeth," he testified, when called to the stand by Gerald H. Sedger, soldiers' advocate.

"They looked like a good string of teeth in my mouth, but the young fellow said he had orders to take them out."

In reply to questions from Commissioner F. C. MacKenzie, sitting with Col. Cy Peck, V.C., he said the army dentists after this wholesale extraction had not given him any plate or other tooth substitute. He went on to tell how after reaching France with the 3rd Division Artillery he began to get tightness of the chest, a shortness of breath, bronchitis and a heart condition, which have all persisted since.

"I can feel something rattling inside of me," he continued. "My trouble first came in 1916, during the wet October and November of 1916 on the Somme when I was with the 44th Battery. Later I was with the heavy siege battery."

During questioning by Mr. Sedger and T. J. McKenty, tribunal counsel, it was brought out that the man had been allowed a pension for his chronic condition when he left the army, but he had commuted it in 1922 for a cash sum.

RIDERS OF RODS ARE PURSUED

Edmonton, April 6.—A concerted drive by Royal Canadian Mounted police against rod riders is in full swing here.

Sixteen men were arrested yesterday as they ran from a freight train pulling into the city. They will appear in court to-morrow.

Earlier in the week eight men arrested for a similar offence were sentenced to fines of $5 and costs each or ten days in jail.

Ladner Bridge Bill Scathingly Reviewed

Extra! Extra!
Finance Minister Reports Tax Cut!

Hon. J. W. Jones gazed around the Legislature and beamed yesterday. He had introduced bills calling for his surtax on large incomes. He had announced the bill calling for a 5 per cent tax on meals over 50 cents. Mr. Jones said over 50,000 men and women say 50 cent and under.

Then he announced another taxation bill and members groaned. As before stated, Mr. Jones beamed.

"It's all right, boys," he said. "This is a reduction."

Amateur sports and community dances will soon pay 5 per cent instead of 10 per cent on their takings if the bill goes through and there is not likely to be the slightest opposition to it.

The bill was given final reading this morning.

Information Given Ontario Legislature By Premier Henry Is That Senator Held Bonds of Power Company Bought By Hydro

PREMIER ADMITS HE OWNS BONDS

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 6.—Senator Arthur Meighen, government party leader in the Senate, should resign at once as a member of the Ontario Hydro Power Commission, declared Mitchell F. Hepburn, M.P. for West Elgin, and Ontario Liberal leader, to-day, commenting on the admissions of Premier George S. Henry in the Ontario Legislature yesterday with regard to the Ontario Power Service Corporation bond deal.

As to Mr. Henry, Mr. Hepburn said he was quite content to leave the Premier's fate in the hands of the Ontario electors.

Mr. Meighen had "nothing to say" to-day, but will return to Toronto to-morrow, when he may issue a statement.

Toronto, April 6.—Hon. Charles McCrear, Minister of Mines of Ontario, declared he had not known until to-day the Toronto General Trusts Corporation, of which he is a director, owned $104,000 worth of bonds of the Ontario Power Service Corporation.

In a statement issued to the press to-day the minister said:

"Neither directly nor indirectly do I own any O.P.S. bonds."

"I am a director of the Toronto General Trusts Corporation, which administers estates and trusts as a trustee. I am not familiar with details of securities and holdings of this trust corporation and I had the purchase of any bonds in the press this morning that trust securities held by them included O.P.S. bonds."

Premier George S. Henry yesterday in the Legislature dealt with the purchase of the corporation by the Ontario Hydro Commission. Declaring his willingness to have a royal commission appointed to investigate the purchase if any member of the House would take the responsibility of suggesting the slightest loss had been caused to the province, the Premier admitted he held $25,000 worth of the bonds and still had them.

GREAT INTEREST

Before a crowded Legislature, the Premier answered a series of questions regarding the transaction, declared Hon. Arthur Meighen, government party leader in the Senate at Ottawa and a member of the Hydro Commission, had held $25,000 of the bonds personally and tabled a long list of the bondholders who had exchanged the Ontario Power Service bonds for those of the Hydro Commission guaranteed by the province.

No member of the cabinet or neither of the other hydro commissioners, Hon. J. R. Cooke and G. Alfred Maguire, held any bonds, he declared.

In the list of bondholders were the names of six companies which list Mr. Meighen as on the directorates.

Members on Both Sides Openly Suspicious of Government Sponsored Plan

Promotion Scheme, Says Conservative Member in Outspoken Criticism

Pointed objections from members on both sides of the House were made yesterday in the Legislature during a searching review of the Ladner Bridge bill, which calls for the British Columbia Government to guarantee to contribute $100,000 up to $1,000,000 a year for a period of forty years if the proposed $2,500,000 bridge should show a deficit for that period.

The bill, it was explained, was enabling legislation for the B.C. Government to make this guarantee if the British capitalists proceed with the plan. A deficit was not anticipated, and it was confidently expected the government would recover any early payments it might have to make when the bridge started to pay, government ministers supporting the bill claimed.

Women's Vocal Solo Events Are Decided At Festival To-day

Marygold Nash and Muriel M. Jarvis, young Duncan singers, secured first prize in the vocal solo class for girls under thirteen, accompanied by boy or girl also under thirteen. Anne Kennedy and Peggy Sedgman were second with 86, one point behind the leaders. Dr. Staton adjudicated this class and made a point of the accompanist's duty to give confidence to the vocalist.

PIANO WINNERS
At First Baptist, Phyllis Dilworth and Elaine Willard were the first to give prize medals, being presented with them for their performance in the intermediate piano duet class. V. and G. Paget Melior were second with 85, two behind the winners.

In all duet playing, I should like to see to remember not to pound too heavily on the lower part of the keyboard and down the clarity of the piano work," said Mr. Bowen when adjudicating.

"The one fault I have found in connection with duet playing is the fact that seconds always, or nearly always, play too loudly with his right hand, thus not giving primo a chance," he stated during his remarks on the next class, that for preparatory piano for duet. Peggy Sedgman and Anne Kennedy were first with 86 marks, and Doris Haller and John V. Routley were second with 85.

John Routley came first in the elementary piano solo event with 100 marks, barely enough to get a medal. No second award was made. Mr. Bowen expressed his deep disappointment with this class, observing that neither test piece was played as it should have been.

"If you are playing fairly simple music and you manage to get through with accurate notes and very well pleased about it, don't be. Look upon this not as a finish but as a start. After getting the notes, the composer said, 'make music,' he told the competitors.

SIGHT READING

Edwin Connor scored a notable victory in the under nineteen piano forte sight reading class, in which there were three entrants. Connor, Edgar, Hearns, were tied after they had played the first piece and Mr. Bowen gave them another to play. "Don't avoid sight reading," he said after complimenting the winner for his aptitude.

Barbara H. Fraser was the only one of all entrants to get 80 in the piano forte accompaniment test, in which contestants were required to play at sight the accompaniment to a song rendered by P. A. Gibbs, Helen G. Dean, Wilbur, Wash., was second with 78.

This afternoon no less than sixteen school choirs were heard in three competitions in First Church, featuring this evening's programme, commencing at 8 o'clock in First United Church, will be the new German Lieder class and Class 4 for church choirs, rural choirs and choral societies.

REPORTS RIOTS PLANNED DENIED

Canadian Press
Vernon, April 6.—It has come to the notice of the men in the relief camp at Orange Church, that a number of special police have been sworn in at Vernon and at Kelowna for the purpose of checking any disturbance on the part of the men," writes M. Condon, who is staying at the camp. "I have been asked to write on behalf of the men, who emphatically deny any intention of a walkout or disturbance. It would be advisable to find out where the rumor first originated. If you know the biggest boloney pedlar in the Okanagan, you have the instigator of the whole affair."

Eleven Fishermen Believed Lost Following Sudden Squall Near Gray's Harbor
Fleet Put to Sea in Fair Weather, But Disaster Came

Associated Press
New York, April 6.—A large part of the United States will go off to bed tomorrow at 12:01 a.m., local time, to-morrow.

In nineteen states and the District of Columbia sale of beer containing 3.2 per cent alcohol by weight (4 per cent volume) will become legal at that time.

Breweries in some of those states plan to deliver beer as soon as it becomes legal. Others rolling out the beer at midnight, say beer will not be delivered much before breakfast time.

The nineteen states in which beer will become legal at 12:01 a.m. are Arizona, California, Colorado, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Washington and Wisconsin.

Six other states have set specific later dates for the starting of beer sales. They are Louisiana, April 13; Vermont, May 1; North Carolina, May 1; Wyoming, May 18; West Virginia, June 9; and North Dakota, July 1. Still others have proposed pending to legislative action.

The regulations vary as to where and how beer can be sold. The price is expected to vary also in different places of sale. One price quoted frequently in New York was $1.00 wholesale for a case of twenty-four bottles.

FIVE CENTS IN SEATTLE
Seattle, April 6.—Beer at five cents a bottle will be available in Seattle after the lid comes off by Congressional act at one minute after next midnight. Beer will be legal then, but at the city price, both in start date, until the usual working day starts, there will be little, if any, beer drinking in the wee hours of to-morrow morning.

The list of the men and boats lost was reported by other fishermen and boatmen as follows:
The Annie, with Jack and W. Sainio, brothers, aboard.
The Axel, owned and operated by Axel Backlund.
The Albi, carrying Charles Fietola and Joel Sainio.
The Helen, manned by a religious fanatic, Wayne Wade as a third unnamed man.

A boat with Nickie Heikila aboard. A small boat, with only one unidentified man in it.
Late yesterday evening the bodies of two men were washed ashore. Neither was immediately identified.

SEEN CAPSIZING
Fishermen whose boats had survived the storm told of having seen others of the fleet capsizing. One said he saw into the turbulent waters. Rescue work was nearly impossible, they said.

The fleet had put to sea under favorable weather conditions, but by the time the bar was reached the waters, which are frequently navigated by large ships with difficulty, were being churned by the sudden squall. The Westport coast guard station the lookout saw the little craft were in difficulty, and watched several capsize. The two life-saving crews immediately put out for rescue work.

The men didn't have much chance to live in those waters," the lookout said.

WHEN U.S. BLIMP SANK IN ATLANTIC

While searching on Tuesday for survivors of the lost dirigible Akron, the U.S. naval blimp J-3 was forced down and wrecked in the Atlantic off Beach Haven, N.J. Five men of its crew were rescued and two, including Lieut. Cockrell, its commander, were drowned. The photo was taken as the wreckage floated and naval flying boats cruised about the scene. Yesterday the wreckage sank while a vessel was attempting salvage. The N.E.A. picture above was rushed across the United States by telephone and reached The Times this morning along with the picture of the Akron survivors on the front page of this issue of The Times.

"Sharp Gust of Wind" Caused Akron Disaster

Three Survivors Appear in Washington and Tell Story to President Roosevelt

Associated Press
Washington, April 6.—The three survivors of the wrecked United States airship Akron told their stories to-day to their Commander-in-Chief—President Roosevelt.

For twelve minutes, Lieut. Commander Herbert V. Wiley and the two enlisted men, Richard E. Deal and Moody Latham, gave their accounts to the President.

Deal had a cut on the face and his hand was wrapped in bandages. Lieut. Wiley, who was the last man to be seen on the Akron, said that the ship did not exist for more than three minutes before the crash.

The survivors were doubtful if the exact cause ever would be determined. A sudden and "very sharp gust of wind" more severe than any he had ever experienced, was given by Commander Wiley as the apparent cause of the disaster to the airship in his official report to the navy.

In a statement to Secretary of the Navy Claude A. Swanson in which the two other survivors corroborated, Wiley said the sharp gust struck the ship as it was flying a storm off the Jersey coast at 12:30 a.m. Tuesday.

"I noted immediately that the lower rudder control rope had carried away and reported it to the captain," he said.

Deal reported as he lay in his bunk on the right side of the ship he saw two riggers above the corridor of the ship bend and buckle, and as he ran forward the control lines in that vicinity of the ship appeared slack but not broken.

"It is difficult to synchronize accurately what observations in the control room, but apparently the damage to the riggers occurred after the severe gust struck the ship and after the description by Commander Wiley as the apparent cause of the disaster to the airship in his official report to the navy.

The court will be presided over by Rear-Admiral Henry V. Butler, who is in command of the navy yard. Discovery of a large "oil slick" or spot of oil on the ocean twenty-two miles southeast of the Barnegat lightship was reported to the navy to-day by the Coast Guard station at Cape May, New Jersey.

Naval officers said the oil spot might indicate one or more of the engines of the Akron had been carried that far by the upper structure of the ship and had sunk there.

PEACE SCHEME CHANGES DEBATED

Rome, April 6.—Premier Mussolini to-day announced he was willing to discuss any revisions in his proposed peace plan, but insisted its fundamental features must remain intact.

A French memorandum proposing alterations or additions to the pact is being sent to reach here shortly.

Premier Mussolini's statement said his plan calling for united action by Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, was based on the principle of revision of European frontiers was the only basis on which "peace of equality" can be built.

France, it was reported, would insist that interests of her allies, Poland, Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Jugoslavia be guaranteed.

Express Companies Discussing Union

Toronto Telegram Reports
Negotiators of Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Exploring Possibilities

Canadian Press
Toronto, April 6.—The Toronto Telegram to-day said a committee composed of Canadian Pacific and Canadian National express companies' officials had been formed with the purpose of determining whether amalgamation between the two companies could take place.

The Telegram continued: "This committee, which is composed of high officials of both railroads, is already working on the ground and it is surmised strongly some time ago, but so far that the two companies are in agreement regarding the terms of amalgamation except on the point of retention of employees."

"As amalgamation of the express companies would result in a certain number of employees of both companies being laid off or forced to retire, it is believed the only stumbling block now is the matter on what basis the men are to be laid off."

"One express company, wants the bulk of employees to prevail, in which case 60 per cent of its employees would be retained in comparison with 40 per cent of the employees of the other express company."

VOTE COMES ON EMBARGO BILL

British Commons Expected to Complete Soviet Trade Discussion This Evening

Canadian Press
London, April 6.—The House of Commons to-day resumed discussion of the government's bill empowering it to declare an embargo on imports of Russian goods with the prospect that the measure might be modified to cover only the crisis occasioned by the arrest in Moscow of six British electrical engineers on charge of plotting against the state.

Third reading of the bill, which will become effective April 18, was expected by 10 o'clock.

The bill was given second reading yesterday evening by a vote of 347 to 48. Opposition Liberals abstained from voting.

LABOR OPPOSITION
In the debate yesterday the bill aroused Labor opposition on the ground the crisis might have been averted if the British authorities had handled differently the Moscow end of negotiations for release of the men.

Mr. Hon. George Lansbury, veteran Labor leader, won a partial victory when he secured from Mr. Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, a promise the government would give sympathetic consideration to the suggestion a time limit be inserted in the bill so it would deal only with the arrests of the engineers and not with the whole question of Anglo-Russian trade.

Mr. Runciman said the government had made a careful search into records of frequent sabotage trials in Russia, and had found not a single instance in which the accused had been released in acquittal of the accused.

DESCRIBED AS REPRISAL
Labor's amendment to the bill, moved by Sir Stafford Cripps, claimed revelations in the White Paper concerning the Japanese attack on the United Kingdom, placed a right to fair protection to its subjects, but that the bill, if passed, would interfere in the internal affairs of another country.

Mr. Cripps' proposal of the amendment threw the House into an uproar. Sir Stafford said it was agreed, the United Kingdom placed a right to fair protection to its subjects, but that the bill, if passed, would interfere in the internal affairs of another country.

Jack Loutet, Conservative, North Vancouver, said the bill obligated the province to a considerable extent. There was no doubt the province would have to meet the $140,000 deficit and that meant interest on $2,500,000. Who would meet the other half of the deficit?

Mr. Loutet said the bridge company would not have a single dollar invested in the bridge. The bridge would cover the entire cost, and no asset of the company could be used to meet the deficit.

United States President Reduces Tariff on Forks By One-half

Associated Press
Washington, April 6.—President Roosevelt has issued his first proclamation under authority of the flexible tariff law, calling for a decrease in duties on certain agricultural hand tools.

The President yesterday ordered a decrease in the duty on hay forks and four-tined fertiliser forks from eight cents each and 45 per cent ad valorem to four cents each and 22½ per cent ad valorem, the maximum decrease possible under the flexible law.

On other agricultural forks, hoes and rakes, he ordered a decrease from 30 per cent ad valorem to 15 per cent ad valorem. No change was made in the duty on shovels, spades and other types of hand tools.

The changes will become effective May 3.

LAST RITES FOR PLANE VICTIMS

Funeral Services in Winnipeg For Late J. Dodds and M. J. Shea; Many Attend

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, April 6.—Marked by the simple dignity that characterized their athletic careers, funeral services were held here yesterday for the two youthful members of the Toller basketball team who lost their lives in an airplane crash in Kansas last Friday.

Government leaders and those prominent in the city's sports and business circles with bowed heads came to bid farewell to Michael J. Shea Jr. and Joseph Dodds. The service was held in the Winnipeg Auditorium, where the bodies had lain in state.

The day was one of public mourning. Long before the hour for the service approached a massed throng waited at entrances to the spacious building to pay their last respects. The two simple caskets were surrounded by a profusion of floral offerings never surpassed in beauty or number by any other similar public recognition here.

The service in the Auditorium was conducted by Rev. W. Gordon Maclean. As the minister finished a choir softly chanted a hymn and the plain walls of the auditorium which both athletes had known so well, echoed back the last note.

PREMIER ATTENDED

Seated near a raised platform were outstanding members of the community, representing various official activities with which the two young men had been connected. These included Premier John Bracken, Mayor Ralph H. Webb, J. J. Norkin, past president of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union, R. S. Heintzelmann, consul-general for the United States, and many others.

After the public service the body of Michael Shea was taken to St. Mary's Cemetery for interment, while that of Joseph Dodds was forwarded to Carlyle, Sask., for burial in the family plot.

University students and associates of the sports and business worlds in which they moved acted as pallbearers. Prior to the general public service, a high mass of requiem was held for the late Michael Shea at St. Mary's Cathedral, after which the casket was borne back to the Auditorium.

Thousands lined the streets as the caskets were taken to their last resting places. A funeral cortege that was blocks long, composed of civic and provincial officials, relatives and friends, escorted them.

PROF. EINSTEIN EXPLAINS STAND

In Belgium During German Anti-Jewish Campaign Because of Country's Record

Jewish Telegraphic Agency
Antwerp, April 6.—Prof. Albert Einstein, to-day expressed profound regret at what he termed misinterpretation of press interviews given by him recently. "I do not desire to live in a country or belong to a country where the rights of all citizens are not respected and where freedom of speech among teachers is not accorded," he said.

"I expressed the hope that nations which are to remain healthy must also in future serve as a standby and a moral support for the most valuable achievements of our civilization. I never uttered a single unfriendly remark against the German people."

"It should not be forgotten that the tragic psychological situation in Germany was, to a great extent, brought about as a result of the post-war policy adopted by the former Allied nations at a time when the Liberal regime was in power in Germany."

Dr. Einstein said he had chosen Belgium as a refuge because of from old it had been a place of tolerance, personal freedom and political neutrality.

ADMIRALTY COURT CHANGE IS MADE

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 6.—First reading was given in the Commons yesterday afternoon to a bill sponsored by Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, the purpose of which is to establish in Canada an admiralty court within the jurisdiction of Canadian statutory authority. At present, the minister explained, the admiralty courts derived their authority in Canada from the Colonial Courts of Admiralty Act, legislation passed by the British Parliament.

In view of the Statute of Westminster, however, which remove the last vestige of British parliamentary authority over the enactments of the Dominion, the necessity had arisen for Canada to pass an act establishing Canadian admiralty courts, Mr. Guthrie said.

NEW TAX BASIS FOR CHAIN STORES

Quebec, April 6.—By a vote of twelve to seven the private bills committee of the Quebec Legislative Council yesterday approved the principle of cumulative taxation, on chain grocery and butcher stores, as included in the bill amending the charter of the city of Montreal. The bill already had been approved by the lower House.

The schedule of taxes approved was as follows:

For grocery stores—Five dollars each on the first five stores; $25 each on the sixth to the tenth; $50 each on the eleventh to twentieth; and $100 each on every additional store.

For butcher stores—Fifty dollars each on the first two stores; $75 each on the third, fourth and fifth stores; $100 each on the sixth to tenth stores; $200 each on the eleventh to twentieth stores; and $300 for each store above that number.

Chancellor Hitler Addresses Farmers

Associated Press
Berlin, April 6.—Chancellor Hitler, addressing the German Agricultural Chamber convention yesterday, said the future of the present government was assured because it had at heart the interests of small farmers and peasants. Germany would have to start all over with "very primitive common sense principles" in every field of endeavor, he said, since in the last fifteen years "there has been an unheard-of intensification of interests so that it is hardly possible to proceed a step without bumping against material and spiritual corruption."

The present regime never could make basic mistakes, the Chancellor said, because its prime mission was to sustain the German peasantry, which he said, backed up the government to ninety-five per cent, in some instances.

Elliott yesterday overruled the motion of the Sioux Falls Broadcast Association asking dismissal of the Associated Press complaint filed in February in an effort to halt unauthorized use of its news dispatches by radio station KXOO. He dismissed the contention the Associated Press was a monopoly in restraint of trade.

The Broadcast Association will be given thirty days in which to answer the bill of complaint if the case is continued in federal court to a final determination of the right of the Associated Press to prevent unauthorized use of its news matter by the radio station.

Women

to pay our bills!”

BOB PROTESTED. He couldn't see why we should be so particular about it.

“What's the hurry?” he asked. “Let them go for a while. What's the use of credit if you don't string it out a bit?”

It seemed to me that Bob's attitude was endangering our success in life and that he ought to be made to realize it.

“Don't you appreciate that our creditors have to eat, too?” I said. “If everybody put off paying bills, we'd all soon cease to have doctors or grocers or stores or anyone good enough to give credit. How would you feel if the company 'put off' paying your salary for three months?”

“Not so good!”

“And another thing! Remember when I was in the hospital? Wasn't it credit that pulled us through? Now that we're on our feet again it's only fair that we play square and pay promptly.”

But Bob was still unconvinced.

“Oh,” he said, “I know all kinds of people who let their bills slide...”

“I know the ones you mean. But, Bob, people talk about them! Actually, they're being supported by their creditors. Why, the poorest family that pays its bills every month is better than they are. Every month, from now on, I'm going to mark the calendar like this to remind us to pay our bills by the tenth.”

“Well,” Bob began...

“Moreover,” I interrupted, “unemployment will be worse and taxes higher if everyone refuses to meet his debts promptly so that merchants and employers can't maintain their payrolls. That would be bad for Victoria. And what's bad for Victoria is bad for you and me.”

“You win; you win,” Bob acquiesced. “Those reasons are quite good enough for me.”

I was so glad he saw the wisdom of it, but I couldn't help adding, “And some day you'll thank your lucky stars for having a wife like me.”

You, too, can be free from needless worry over bills. Form the habit of paying promptly, and your credit will always be a pleasure to use.

CONCEALMENT STIRS DOUBTS

Says A. M. Manson in Charging Secrecy Shown on $4,000,000 Bond Sale

Hinchliffe Goes Back to 1918 For Comparisons on Prices Paid

Concealment only gave rise to suspicion, A. M. Manson, K.C., declared in the Legislature yesterday when the government's $4,000,000 bond sale in January was under discussion again. Full and complete disclosure of the government's financial position was advisable, he considered. Mr. Manson also recalled the quarterly financial statement sought by business men had never been issued.

The debate was prompted by the request of George E. Pearson, Liberal, Nainaimo, whose request for a return of telegrams and correspondence on the subject has been refused as not in the best interest of the public at the present time.

Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe said no secret had been made of what the issue was costing the province. It was costing 6.08 per cent. That was nothing new in British Columbia. That included the cost of printing, advertising and selling. All the leading financial houses in the east were taking part in the selling. One reason it cost so much was the bonds of one of the provinces at that time dropped to 83, and H.C. was not willing to push its bonds at that rate. The U.S. money market also dropped at that time. Now, however, most of the bonds had been sold. Mr. Hinchliffe made comparisons with bonds sold as far back as 1911 when he said a rate of 6.88 had been paid on a $1,000,000 issue. A return on bonds filed by the government reports of speeches of T. D. Pattullo, Opposition Leader. He could not recollect Mr. Pattullo's remarks in the House with his declaration that he did not want to do anything to impair the credit of the province.

Regarding charges of secrecy on details of the sale, Mr. Hinchliffe said he could not see what more details were needed. The amount borrowed was known, a price paid was known. There had been no secret commission. It was not, however, advisable to reveal all details at the present time of a transaction that was not yet completed.

Mr. Manson considered not one sound reason for refusing the information sought had been advanced. It was reasonable, he thought, to ask for the information so the members might pass on the government's policy on loans. Mr. Manson emphasized Minister of Finance loans answered on March 14, could not be referred to a loan floated in January. While the return might be slightly accurate it was calculated to lead, Mr. Manson charged.

What earthly purpose is served by concealment? questioned Mr. Manson. "If all is well you do not create suspicion by concealment."

Conservatives voted today to reject Mr. Pearson's motion for a return of telegrams and correspondence on the subject.

Victoria Assembly No. 1, active Sons of Canada, will meet this evening at the New Thought Temple, 22 Street.

PLAN DETAILS OF DECORATION

General Scheme at Fireman's Ball in Silver and Blue

Details for the decoration of the ballroom at the Empress Hotel for the Firemen's ball on April 27, are being worked out by R. Winter, superintendent of fire alarms, and J. Puckey, who constitute the decorating committee, with the assistance of Albert Webb, the hotel electrician.

The general scheme will be silver and blue with the back of the orchestra dais draped with blue velvet hangings. Various emblems of the fire fighting department will be arranged artistically along the front and at the sides of the stage.

There will be illuminated signs of the Victoria Fire Department, one depicting an old-time steam pump in action. Specially built music stands will be used by the orchestra. Mr. Webb will have charge of the lighting effects during the progress of the ball.

Fred Saunders, the head gardener at the Empress Hotel, is assisting the decorations committee and will provide a generous display of spring flowers, ferns and palms for the beautification of the ballroom.

The dance programme in former years has been a replica of a fireman's helmet. This year they will be changed to a more conventional type of motor fire pump.

ENLIGHTENED COMMITTEE
Lieut. C. Gwyer, F. Barber, George Laffin and P. Briers, who are in charge of tickets, report an encouraging demand and predict the attendance will be on a par with other years. The refreshment committee is composed of Capt. F. Zeigler and H. E. Hunt. They plan to make the sit-down supper a wonderful treat.

Capt. R. T. Brindle and M. Woodburn will be masters of ceremonies and have charge of the music and general conduct of the ball. A fourteen-piece orchestra has been engaged and will be conducted by Al Prescott. Dancing will continue from 9 to 3 with an interval at midnight for supper.

The reception committee consists of Alderman Walter Loney, chairman; Alderman J. D. Hunter and Alderman Alex Pedon, of the fire wardens, and Fire Chief Vernon W. Stewart and Deputy Chief A. Munroe.

The ball will be under the patronage of the Lieutenant-Governor, and Mrs. J. W. Fordham-Johnson, Premier Tolmie, Mayor and Mrs. Leeming, and a committee of the fire wardens and city council. The police department will be represented by Chief Thomas Healey and Mrs. Healey. The navy will be represented by Commander Victor Brodeur, senior officer in charge of the Esquimalt naval station, and Mrs. Brodeur, while for the military, Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown, officer in command of Military District No. 11, and Mrs. Sutherland Brown, have signified their intention to be present.

PROTEST ORDER STOPPING CARS

Saanich Meeting Agrees Families Drawing Relief Should Drive Their Motors

Unemployed men being paid Saanich municipal relief allowances should not be compelled to cease using their automobiles, in the opinion of the Ward Two, Saanich, Non-Political Ratepayers' Association. At a meeting held yesterday evening at Tolmie School, a resolution of protest was adopted, at the instance of a number of men affected.

The meeting denounced improvement of the municipal yard at Carey Road, at a cost of $1,500, while the city was falling into disrepair. Councilor Dennis Hoare explained that if the money was spent on the roads it would have to be scattered around the seven wards. Only grading of the yard had been approved, and the job enabled what was to be accomplished where the need was greatest.

Appreciation of aid given needy families by members of the medical profession, and a warm tribute to the work of Dr. David Berman, medical health officer, were contained in a resolution adopted after members had told of ready responses to calls to homes of distressed residents, many of whom had not been billed for the services rendered.

The association will hold a concert in the Lake Hill Community Centre on Thursday, April 27, the proceeds to be devoted to providing shoes for needy persons in the ward. The programme will include a lecture on "Zeebrugge," by Major M. Kirkpatrick-Crockett. W. H. Campbell resigned the office of secretary and Mrs. E. Glover was elected to the vacancy.

Little Stories of Big Results

THE entire earnings of the Mutual Life of Canada are owned by the policyholders.

The following actual result is proof that it pays to own a "participating-in-profits" policy in this company.

POLICY No. 11,513—Issued in 1884—$1,000 20 PAYMENT LIFE

This Policyholder paid The Mutual Life

20 Annual Premiums of $25.20 ..... $504.00

The Mutual Life has paid him in dividends ..... $404.46

The total cost of $1,000 insurance protection for 4 years was only ..... $99.54

(An average of only $2.03 yearly)

IN ADDITION

The value of his Policy in cash today is ..... $807.32

It will be seen that for $99.54 he now has a credit of $807.32. The cash value will increase year by year and he will receive a cheque annually for his share of the earnings of the company.

If he had taken a similar policy on a "non-participating-in-profits" plan at the lowest known rate it would have cost him $21.45 yearly for twenty years, a total of $429.00—as compared with a total of $99.54 under the Mutual Life of Canada "participating-in-profits" plan.

You, too, can become a Policyholder in this successful and sound Canadian Company. Mail the Coupon below for further information regarding the Mutual Life and its Policies.

I. E. Bowman, first President and one of the founders of the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada, who presided at the first annual meeting of the Company, stated in his address:

"The Founders were led to entertain the project of establishing a Life Insurance Company, based upon purely mutual principles, believing it highly desirable that the benefits of life insurance should be extended as widely as possible and at the cheapest rates compatible with safety to be assured."

Daffodil Tea Draws Many Visitors To "Schuhuum"

King's Daughters' Annual Spring Function Yesterday Afternoon Big Success

Mrs. B. M. Hasell recalls early days of order; delightful music

Mrs. B. M. Hasell, one of the first provincial officers of the order, performed the opening ceremony at the delightful daffodil tea of the King's Daughters, held yesterday afternoon at "Schuhuum," the home of Miss Agnew, the affair attracting a large number of callers who were welcomed by the hostess and Mrs. L. H. Hardie, the president.

Mrs. B. M. Hasell recalled that "It is long years since the order began this happy custom of a daffodil and spring flower show, and we always used to feel as we gathered year by year to prepare for the annual tea, that it was a privilege to be a part of it."

The King's Daughters were my first friends here and the King's Daughters my first teachers and associates in any social service. We use this term now—we didn't then—we just said we wanted to join the friends of the King's Daughters.

PRESENTATIONS MADE

Japanese plum blossoms, daffodils and greenery were banded in the hall and reception rooms, forming a lovely setting for the affair. Immediately following the opening ceremony, Mrs. L. H. Hardie presented Mrs. Hasell with a charming little handbag. Mrs. R. A. Playfair presented a similar gift to Miss Agnew, both gifts being the work of the King's Daughters.

DAINTY TEA

Under the direction of Mrs. J. McElrath, tea was served in the dining-room. The table was artistically decorated in the colors of the King's Daughters—yellow and green.

Maltese cross of the order being placed in purple table, with vases of plum blossoms, daffodils and grape hyacinths, and purple tapers in silver holders carrying out the color motif.

Pouring tea and coffee during the afternoon were Mrs. C. F. Davis, Mrs. David Leeming, Mrs. James Brown, Mrs. William Russell, Mrs. R. R. Watson, Mrs. B. A. Playfair, Mrs. R. W. Mayhew and Miss Morley.

MUSICAL PROGRAMME

Miss Kathleen Roberts was responsible for the delightful musical programme. Miss Irene Bernheimer opened the programme with two songs which delighted the guests. Mrs. R. S. Pentecost acted as accompanist. Mrs. Otto Walker sang "Dei Hymn" and "Early Morning" accompanied at the piano by Mrs. J. O. Cameron. Mrs. E. McQuade sang "The Moon Behind the Cottonwood" (Cushman) and "Jesus" (Barry) Mrs. A. W. Miller accompanied at the piano.

Mrs. Harry Lasenby's voice numbers were "The Slave Song" and "Dei Hymn" and "Three" (Ayrton). Her accompanists being played by Mrs. Charles Conyers. Miss Edna Dilworth also sang charmingly. Miss Phyllis Dilworth accompanying her, and the songs were "Little Lady for the Moon" (Cotter), "Gone With My Mother" (Taught Me) (Dvorak).

"A Little Bit of Honey" and "The Sweet Maytime" were sung by Mrs. Styles (Sehl), accompanied by Mrs. A. W. Miller. Leslie Jordan, a violin pupil of George Dyke, played two solos, "Giga" (Corelli), and Schubert's "Ave Maria." Mrs. Eric Jones was his accompanist. Miss Nellie Brayshaw, also a pupil of Mr. Dyke, played two violin numbers, "To a Wild Flower" (W. H. Reed), and "Study in G" (Wolffahrt). The latter being unaccompanied, and the accompaniment for the first played by Mrs. Miller.

A modern development in hot sandwiches uses hot rolls or biscuits as well as toast for the foundation. A sauce also often accompanies these "sandwiches" with the result that a most appetizing main dish for the noon meal is served.

Try fish rolls for breakfast or luncheon. They are inexpensive and quite unusual.

FISH ROLLS

One cup flaked salt codfish, 2 cups diced potatoes, 3 eggs, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 8 thin slices bacon, 1 cup flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons shortening, milk or water.

BLIND TAUGHT
SELF-RELIANCE

I.O.D.E. Chapter Hears Address on Work Among Sightless Citizens

A description of the work being carried on among the blind of the province was given by Miss Leigh, of the staff of the Canadian Institute for the Blind, before the members of the Robert Burns McKicking Chapter I.O.D.E. at its meeting Tuesday evening. The chapter makes the blind its especial care, and much interest was taken in Miss Leigh's address. Miss Stark, a home teacher of the blind, expressed thanks to the chapter for its interest on their behalf.

TAUGHT SELF-RELIANCE

Miss Leigh stated that the aim of the institute was to teach the blind to help themselves, and she described the various ways in which the sightless are taught self-reliance and self-confidence. She told of the free library service, the institute collection including over 25,000 books in Braille or Moon's type.

Whenever possible, radios are obtained for the blind. Then they are taught handicrafts, such as weaving, basketry, etc., and are even taught how to type, and how to make rubber mats. "The main thing is to give these people an occupation; they are not always able to make a living from these occupations, but at least they are able to do something definite, and for which there is a demand," she explained.

Mrs. H. G. Bolt, the regent, presided at the meeting. Miss Rilda Margetta reported on the tea given for the blind of this city at the Y.W.C.A. on Saturday afternoon, March 11. Over thirty blind people, with their attendants, attended, and the afternoon was spent in games, contests and community singing, in all of which the blind people entered with great enthusiasm and happiness.

The treasurer, Mrs. Grace Macintosh, read the financial statement, showing quite a gratifying balance in the bank, as a result of the concert given by the "Blind Singers" sponsored by the Robert Burns McKicking Chapter, at the Shrine auditorium on March 23.

A discussion followed as to whether or not the members of this chapter would take up an empire study. It was decided that Mrs. Bolt would inquire into the matter, with the possibility of obtaining a speaker for the June meeting.

MAY RECEPTION

Final arrangements were made regarding the excursion to Seattle which this chapter is sponsoring on May 24. The St. Princess Louise has been chartered, and will leave Victoria at 8:30 a.m., making the return trip at 6 p.m., giving the passengers five hours in the mainland city. A popular orchestra will be in attendance during the trip, and tickets will soon be obtainable from the C.P.R. office. Miss Elsie Jenkins is in charge of arrangements, assisted by Miss Kay Tadmor.

Three new members were suggested, and will be welcomed into the chapter at the next meeting. The regular anniversary tea will be held at the Y.W.C.A. early in May, the date to be announced shortly. Mrs. Grace Macintosh will act as general convener, assisted by Mrs. L. G. Goss, Miss Claire Allan, Miss Rilda Margetta, Miss Gladys Sheret, Miss Mollie Wright, Miss Elsie Jenkins, Miss Connie Chow and Miss Alison Chow. There will be a concert during the afternoon, and articles made by the blind will be on display for sale.

Scoutmaster Club. — The Scoutmaster Club held its monthly meeting at the Y.W.C.A. on Tuesday evening, Miss Russell, the president, presiding over a fairly good attendance. The business was preceded by dinner. Fish rolls being attractively centred with daffodils. Plans were made to commemorate the first birthday of the club with a week-end gathering. The tentative arrangements being discussed during the evening.

TO-MORROW'S MENU

MOTHER CAN MAKE RAINY DAYS ENJOYABLE

The rainy days of April! Do the children grumble and moan when they are taken to the rain streaming down the panes, or do they leap from bed, their limbs seething with the projects which have been awaiting just such a day for fulfillment? The manner in which the children greet nature's watery outburst depends pretty much on the mother's attitude.

FOR A RAINY DAY

The mother has inspired that spirit of anticipation by her cheer. "Now just wait until some rainy day and we'll do that." What the children do may be some—painting, sewing, carpentering, or the reading of a new book. Or it may be one of those "inside jobs," the cleaning of pantry shelves or book cases, or bringing a new orderliness to dresser drawers or clothes closets, which can be such fascinating occupations when no more active amusements are beckoning one outdoors.

Rainy days are ideal to browse in the attic among old trunks or discarded chests and dressers, whose contents lend themselves readily to unexpected journeys to far lands on a boat made of two chairs and enclosed for privacy by an all encompassing blanket.

SPECIAL ACTIVITIES

There should be special toys for rainy days, some things that appear momentarily when the rain is present and disappear only to renew their delights on the next rainy day. The special box may contain old and discarded favorite dolls or toys which have been replaced by newer ones. It may contain some especially exciting game or puzzle which mother has picked up and put away for just such moments of ennui. Placed on a high shelf, and marked "Rainy Day Amusements," the box offers an immeasurable allure if presented on a day when ordinary toys have taken on the gloomy aspect of the day itself.

Rain might be unbearable were it a constant phenomenon, but its infrequency should make it the signal for new games, new amusements, new projects which can be enjoyed only on those days when it is impossible to do anything but stay under shelter.

To-morrow: "Spring Months are Best for Weaving."

TWO QUADRA
CHOIRS WIN

Arion Club and George Jay Challenge Shields Change Hands at Musical Festival

F. Dudley Wickett is Best Tenor; Martha Ferguson, Ladysmith, Piano Winner

Two Quadra School choirs, one from grade six and the other a composite organization drawn from all grades, carried off major honors in the school festival adjudicated in First United Church yesterday afternoon by Dr. J. F. Stetson and George Dodds.

The grade six choir, conducted by Miss T. L. O'Hilland, won Class 16 from five other schools. Its marks of 169 was two better than that of the grade seven Cloverdale choir, which headed Class 15 for school choirs of grades seven and eight, and thus the Arion Club Challenge Shield, awarded for highest marks in the two classes, goes from Cloverdale School, last year's winners, to Quadra School. In Class 15, the Cloverdale grade eight choir finished second with 166 marks. Both Cloverdale choirs were conducted by C. Routley.

Immediately after these two events, the composite choir of Quadra School, conducted by G. H. E. Green, was awarded first prize in class 16 and secured the George Jay Challenge Shield, won last year by Oaklands School, which this year finished second with 162 marks, four behind the winners.

TEACHERS COMPLIMENTED

The work of the grade six choirs, said Dr. Stetson in his adjudication, "speaks worlds for the work being done in the schools." He reminded the young singers that they could never be rhythmic with a solemn face.

In his adjudication of the grade seven and eight choirs, Mr. Dodds paid similar tribute. "Very good teaching and hope that the residents of the community will realize the need for continuing the work, which is bringing joy to many destitute families."

boy in 1887, and noted that it would probably not be admitted to a festival like the present one. Twenty-five years of festival competition in England had done wonders in bringing the children along, and he had no doubt that great things would be accomplished here regularly after ten more years of the festival.

In the line "Little one, I have dreams to tell," he said the effect was marred by pausing at the comma. "Don't always observe the commas too strictly," he advised. He conducted the choirs and also the audience to show the advantage of getting a "bite" on the consonants.

TENOR CLASSES

F. Dudley Wickett, carried off the first prize certificate in grade A tenor solo class with a mark of 164. George F. H. Farmer was second with 163. Mr. Dodds had nice things to say about these voices. The test pieces were Handel's "Total Eclipse" and Quilter's "Blow, Blow, Thou Winter Wind," on both of which Mr. Dodds gave valuable tips. "Three of the singers forgot their lines in this last number. Theodore Christensen headed the grade B tenor class with 84 and F. F. Vikings was second, a mark behind.

With Dr. Stetson at the piano, Mr. Dodds gave the afternoon audience an unexpected treat by singing "Blow, Blow, Thou Winter Wind" and "O Mistress Mine," test piece for the grade B tenors.

Martha Ferguson, Ladysmith, won the only pianoforte contest conducted in First Baptist Church in the afternoon, that for primary girls. "There were nearly thirty entries. Phyllis Muriel Hick was second with 85, one behind the winner, York Bowen, the adjudicator, expressed keen disappointment with this class. In marking some competitors as low as 40, he said they were the lowest marks he had ever given.

Garden Fete to Aid
Saanich Welfare

For the purpose of raising funds to continue its work, the Saanich Welfare Association is planning a garden party at the home of Mrs. W. H. Carr, Gordon Head, on June 7. Preliminary arrangements for the affair were made at a meeting yesterday afternoon.

The monthly report of the secretary, Mrs. N. Dealey, showed that 236 families had been given assistance, representing 831 persons. Thirteen new cases of need were added to make the total number 1,644. Five complete layettes were given away during the month and two extra persons assisted.

Members of the association expressed their sincere appreciation to those who donated necessities during the month and hope that the residents of the municipality will realize the need for continuing the work, which is bringing joy to many destitute families.

"The Tangle"

A Novel by

H. LAWRENCE PHILLIPS

Author of "Cap'n Benny" and "A Friendless Millionaire"

They stood there for a few moments, and part of the rest of the side of a Birks with a notebook in one hand and in the other a thick stub of a pencil which he frequently applied to his mouth, evidently to facilitate thought and writing. The occupation, normal in his character, restored him to normality, and the official tone was again traceable in his speech.

"This my duty, sir, to report this matter to the Superintendent at once, and I'll proceed to do so, if I may leave you here in charge of the premises and the deceased."

"You may do so," replied Gray, "and the sooner you get someone competent to deal with the situation the better. I'll have another look around meanwhile."

"You won't disturb anything, will you, sir?" asked Birks anxiously. "When we have a case of this kind in hand we don't want clues disturbed. Gray's sense of humor was aroused by the remark, but he had control enough of himself to answer gravely that he recognized the wisdom of such a policy, and the sooner the police got on to the clues the better.

"The murderer, whoever he is, has got a long start anyhow."

Birks, who had been turning to go, faced around again.

"What do you mean, sir?"

"Man, it's very evident, everything points that way, that the murder took place last night, and the criminal has twelve hours' start at least."

"Well, well! What makes you think that, sir?"

"The fact that Mrs. Lisle is in evening dress, and that the bloodstains have all dried up. But be off, and get your brains to work."

Birks went off murmuring something about Gray's cute brains, for he was immensely impressed by his noticing a perfectly obvious fact.

Gray accompanied him to the door, still urging haster, and with his mind full of the ghastly tragedy was returning to the dining-room, when his attention was diverted by a couple of stains upon the tiling of the hall, and just outside the drawing-room door.

He knelt down and studied them closely. There was no doubt as to their cause—he could not mistake the nature of the dark brown impressions.

One seemed to be the mark of the toe knowledge of what lay in the drawing-room, got on his nerves, and he went to the hall door to see if there was any sign of Birks, though he knew that it was impossible for him to be returning as yet, and looked out on the drive.

This was a very short one, and had been recently—at least since the occupation of the "Lindens" by Mrs. Lisle—enlarged in front of the house for the easier manipulation of Miss Debnam's motor, to give it turning space. He noticed that it had not yet had time to harden, and was rather cut up by the wheels. One set of marks seemed very recent, and to pass the time more than for any other cause, Gray compared the marks with the older ones, and judged them all alike to be those of the same car, Miss Debnam's.

"Then they can't be so recent as they appear to be," he mused, "for it must be nearly two days since she went off. I wonder where she is, and how we can get in touch with her? Poor girl! What a bitter blow! She seemed much attached to her sister."

He looked at his watch again, and then strode to the gate. This opened out upon the disused road; from that point to the main road the passage of vehicles to the house had kept it free of grass, but the upper part of the lane was very much overgrown.

Gray looked towards the way from which he hoped relief would come, but nothing was in sight, and nothing disturbed the peaceful serenity of the place. Through a gap in the hedge he could see, some way off, the thatched roof of a cottage, and noted the thin, blue smoke of a wood fire melting into the air. It was hard to believe that among such peaceful surroundings, and with such a law-abiding people, a crime of this character could have taken place.

He looked idly up the lane, and suddenly became more alert. He noticed the tracks of wheels fairly well defined along the grassy way.

"That's curious," he remarked half aloud, and passed through the gate to see that he had made no mistake.

There was no doubt about it, some vehicle, a motor from the traces, had passed that way. Somewhat excited at his discovery he went along the lane a few yards, scrutinizing the surface with care. He came to the conclusion that the car—had no doubt that it was a car—had passed fairly recently, the condition of the grass and some broken twigs assured him of that. He had been in charge of the Scouts in a former parish, and had acquired a smattering of Scout craft. He looked down the lane, and again was roused to excitement. Unless he was very much mistaken, the car, or whatever it was, had turned from the gate of the "Lindens" up the lane—the signs were very apparent, and could not be mistaken.

"Who could it be?" he asked himself.

Who was the woman visitor of the night before? He mentally framed the question he recalled the visit he had paid to the Estcourts, and the purpose proclaimed by Mrs. Estcourt of paying a visit to the "Lindens." Had she been there at the moment of the tragedy? If so, why had she not given the alarm? Reason said, because she must have been involved in the crime, and Gray almost laughed aloud as he realized whether his speculations had led him. He had a vision of the kindly, womanly, and frail looking Mrs. Estcourt, out of keeping with the brutal and callous crime he was considering.

"It's not that," he thought, "but what an egregious error I am to even indirectly in thought connect Mrs. Estcourt with such an affair. How annoyed the dear old Colonel would be if he knew."

The silence of the house, with his

HOW TO GET RID OF ACID STOMACH

According to many authorities, some 80% of the people of today have acid stomach. This is because so many foods, comprising the modern diet, are acid forming foods.

It usually makes itself felt in sour stomach, indigestion, headaches, nausea, gas, "biliousness" and most frequently in stomach pains that come about thirty minutes after eating. So you can easily tell if you have it.

Now Quickly and Easily Corrected

If you do have acid stomach, don't worry about it. You can correct it in a very simple manner. Just do this. It will alkalize your acid soaked stomach almost immediately. You will feel like another person. TAKE—2 teaspoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia with a glass of water—every morning when you get up. Take another teaspoonful thirty minutes after eating. And another before you go to bed.

PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Neutralizes Food and Tobacco Acids a few minutes after taking.

What This Does

That's all you do. But you do it regularly EVERY DAY, so long as you have any symptoms of distress. This acts to neutralize the stomach acids that foster your "upset" stomach, that invite headaches and that feeling of lassitude and lost energy.

Try it. Results will amaze you. Your head will be clear. You'll forget you have a stomach. BUT—be careful that you get REAL milk of Magnesia when you buy; genuine PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia. See that the name "Phillips" is stamped clearly on the label.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM

Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are not on sale at drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet of a teaspoonful of genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

SCALING DOWN OF DEBTS URGED

J. S. Woodsworth, Addressing Commons, Suggests Currency Inflation

Survey of Foreign Markets For Livestock Men Suggested By W. E. Rowe

Ottawa, April 6.—Averaged among all Canadians, it takes two and one-half months' labor out of every year for a person to pay his taxes and public imposts, according to J. S. Woodsworth, chairman of the National Council of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

As an aside, Mr. Woodsworth, who addressed the Commons yesterday afternoon during the budget debate, protested against Canadians demanding New York funds for bonds, increasing the burden on the national treasury. "I think the time is coming when we will have to cut down our bond indebtedness," proceeded the Labor leader. This might be done by changing the face value of the bonds, a conversion loan or by inflation. He favored the latter as the easiest and fairest DESCRIBED AS "BUNK"

Mr. Rhodes' declaration Canada remained able to meet her foreign obligations without undue strain was designated by Mr. Woodsworth as "bunk" and "high sounding phrases that mean nothing."

The Labor leader said debt charges in Canada were a contributory factor to the financial plight of the country. "I do not see how we can struggle much longer," he said after quoting long strings of figures, all in billions, representing federal, provincial, municipal and private debts.

The Rhodes budget, insisted Mr. Woodsworth, would tend to hold wealth for those who had it and increase the taxes paid by the poor. He instanced an increase of 230 per cent on the income tax on a salary of $4,000 and an increase of 30 per cent on a salary of $20,000.

The unemployment problem was increasing in stature, Mr. Woodsworth said, but there was nothing in the budget to indicate a way out.

by a livestock export commission was suggested by W. E. Rowe, Conservative member for Dufferin-Simcoe, Ontario.

There was no hope for economic stability in Canada until agriculture regained its feet, declared the Ontario livestock breeder, who many times has driven his own horses on Canadian racetracks. His proposed export commission—on which all political parties would be represented—would channel the Canadian livestock situation and survey foreign markets, especially the United Kingdom.

One factor that might be investigated was the possibility of cattle exporting through Churchill and over the Hudson Bay route. Plans might be laid to maintain a continuity of supply for foreign markets—and here Mr. Rowe instanced the success of Denmark in the United Kingdom—bacon market. There might be investigation of plans to establish feeding stations in eastern Canada for the live cattle trade. And lastly, the commission might examine the possibilities of a fast ocean service

Meal Tax Value For Hospital Is Doubtful

Members Fail to Agree It Will Raise $250,000 to Balance Grant Slash

Goes Into Effect in May; Hospitals Get Quarterly Cheques

The 5 per cent tax on meals of 50 cents and over to raise money to compensate British Columbia hospitals for the $250,000 grant reduction was described as "iniquitous and uncertain" by Liberal members and ably defended by government members during second reading in the Legislature yesterday.

Attorney-General Pooley met opposition complaints that it was a plunge in the dark without any guarantee what amount would be raised by stating the government had estimated the tax would be applied during the year on meals served to the value of $4,500,000. Anticipated revenue for the hospitals would be $225,000.

Hon. R. L. Maitland, K.C., defended the tax on the grounds it would make people "hospital minded" and predicted every person would feel "just a little better" as he made his little contribution to hospitals when he paid for a meal.

Hon. J. W. Jones, Finance Minister, said there was a similar tax in Quebec. The revenue from the levy would be paid into the consolidated revenue and paid out from time to time to the hospitals as the provincial secretary requested.

TAX AIR NEXT

"The first thing we know," T. D. Pattullo, Opposition Leader, commented, "they will be measuring the air we breathe and tax us on that." When the government sought to do something repugnant they surrounded it with something attractive in an effort to make it palatable. In this instance they used the hospitals. The best course to follow, he thought, was for revenue to be paid into consolidated revenue and grants made from that.

George S. Pearson, Liberal, Nanaimo, pointed out it would be necessary to collect the tax on meals served to the value of $5,000,000 and he doubted if the tax would be collected on $1,000,000. He regretted the reduction of hospital grants and quoted figures to show that in 1931 forty hospitals in British Columbia had deficits amounting to $269,000. Twenty-five had a total surplus of $38,000. He told of the troubles Nanaimo Hospital was facing, the troubles being accentuated by reason of the fact that 40 per cent of the persons it cared for were provincial rather than municipal responsibilities.

LACK OF SYMPATHY

Mr. Maitland said collection of the tax would start May 1. Hospitals could receive grants from the fund every three months. He deplored a lack of support for hospitals from wealthy people and lack of appreciation of efforts of hospital workers. He told of the abuse Vancouver General Hospital received and the trouble it had collecting from people who could pay. In comparison with other provinces the British Columbia Government was generously supporting hospitals.

A. M. Manson, K.C., said he was in sympathy with hospitals but did not like the form of legislation.

Thomas King, Liberal, Columbia, estimated the revenue would not be greater than $30,000. Of the population of 700,000 in British Columbia, only about 5 per cent eat in restaurants and not over 10 per cent of them paid as much as fifty cents for a meal.

"I will support this tax because it is one that won't hurt anybody in my constituency," said Thomas Uphill, Labor, Fernie.

Hon. S. L. Howe said the tax had been decided upon the basis it would balance the cut in the hospital grants. Dr. H. C. Wrench, Liberal, Skeena, agreed with Mr. Maitland it might make people "hospital minded," but feared it would be adversely so rather than favorably.

J. H. Beatty, Conservative, Victoria, thought the people of Victoria and Vancouver would carry the load. It was a fair tax. The land was already carrying too heavy a burden.

Hon. J. Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, thought any young man who could afford to take a girl out to dine in these days could well afford the tax. The other feature that appealed to him was that strangers would pay the greatest part of it.

TRAVEL RATE CUT PROTESTED

Plea For Country Members Renewed in Legislature

The plea for country members who had to travel at considerable expense over extensive areas was renewed in the Legislature yesterday by A. M. Manson, K.C., before second reading was giving the bill amending the Constitution Act, which cuts traveling allowances down from twenty-five cents to twelve and a half cents a mile. The bill also provides for the cut in members' indemnities.

Mr. Manson warned against the danger of making it impossible for anybody but a wealthy man to represent a constituency. He urged that temporary provision should at least be made for the members from large constituencies like Allyn and the new Peace River constituency. Otherwise it would be impossible for them to cover their constituencies as they should properly represent it.

L. A. Hanna, Liberal, Alberni, supported Mr. Manson, pointing out the great mileage a member for the newly created Alberni-Nanaimo district would have to travel. The mileage paid helped the member to travel. If it was necessary to travel to properly know the district.

Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe pointed out the mileage only applied to a member's trip from and to Victoria for the session. He saw merits in the claim, however, and said if the Leader of the Opposition were in power next year and saw fit to bring in such a measure, he, Mr. Hinchliffe, would not oppose it.

He would not be in the House to do so in any event he was told from the opposition benches.

SAFEGUARDS ON LAND TRANSFER

Park Area Exchange Bill Discussed in B.C. Legislature

Safeguards should be placed in the measure giving the government power to make exchanges of land for other land needed for park areas, L. A. Hanna, Liberal, Alberni, claimed in the Legislature yesterday during second reading of the bill amending the Provincial Parks Act.

Mr. Hanna thought the minister in charge would be deluged with applications from persons who sought to transfer land they thought suitable for park purposes for other land in the province and such a safeguard should be welcomed by him.

T. D. Pattullo, Leader of the Opposition, spoke on the same subject earlier in the session and has a motion on the order paper to amend the bill so that no transfers shall be made without the approval of the Legislature.

Speaking on the bill yesterday, Dr. G. K. MacLaurin, Conservative, Comox, paid a tribute to the Minister of Lands for securing area near Buttle Lake and Elk River and spoke of the beauty of Strathcona Park and the Forbidden Plateau. In 1915-16 $350,000 had been spent for the development of Strathcona Park and he regretted nothing had been spent since as with the coal mining business on the wane Vancouver Island must look more and more to tourist trade.

Mr. Hanna referred to the beauties of Cathedral Grove timber near Cameron Lake. It was in 1930 when the Premier announced the grove would be preserved. There was a federal election on that morning and has been done since. Similar suggestions were raised but with short consultations between the office. He hoped the approach of that election had not inspired the present legislation.

P. E. Winslow will address the Real Estate Board at its luncheon meeting Friday in Spencer's Dining-room. His subject will be "Income Tax Matters," and he will show comparisons between British Columbia and other provinces of Canada, and Great Britain in this respect.

Male Choir Given Warm Reception At Musical Festival

Comox Men's Musical Retains Challenge Shield in Spirited Competition

Beat Local Choir By Single Mark

Jack Clements and T. Lewis Win Duets and Emmanuel Quartette Head Quartettes

Amid much enthusiasm and a specially happy adjudication by Dr. J. F. Stator of Chesterfield, the Comox Men's Musical, an aggregation of twenty-eight voices, conducted by C. W. Silenice, successfully consummated a long afternoon trip to Victoria by retaining the Knights of Pythias challenge shield, which they won for the first time last year, in the last event on yesterday evening's Musical Festival programme in First United Church.

The Comox victory was a fitting climax to the second evening of the festival and came as a result of especially stirring performances under their dynamic director, Mr. Silenice, who was in charge here last year when the up-Island singers got their initial grasp of the shield, emblematic of supremacy in the adult male choir class.

In his adjudication, Dr. Stator paid tribute to the Comox group's "superb sensitiveness in pianissimo," which, he said, was unmistakable evidence of long rehearsal. It was harder, he stated, to make beautiful sounds when decreasing volume than when increasing it. The adjudicator did not fail to note the time vitality and appeal of the other entrant, the Victoria Male Choir, under Frank L. Tupman, which with 168 marks was only one behind the winners. The local choir comprised forty-eight singers.

Dr. Stator appeared exceptionally pleased with the singing of the two groups. In a comprehensive summing up, he reminded his audience that he and his colleagues were looking for the expression of the mystery of night and the march rhythm in the first test piece, Robert Schumann's "The Night March" (unaccompanied). Other factors were rendition of the words dramatically, beauty of tone and personality and charm.

"BAD MUSIC" The winning choir had special intensity of mood at the back of their singing, he said, but he considered their selected second test piece to be bad music. He could not give any definite rules as to what constituted bad music, but he knew what it was when he heard it. In humorous manner, Dr. Stator proceeded to reel off miles, as he said, of the same stuff on the piano, pointing out that it was easy to turn out wholesale because it was obvious and based on the one chord.

Bad music, he said, could sometimes be recognized now because the interpretation often necessitated the stuffing up of the mouth of a trumpet, the wiggling of the singer to draw attention away from the music and to himself, and the squeaking up and down of a clarinet. He observed that the Comox singers well deserved much better music.

The other senior choral class on the programme was that for commercial choral societies. The only entrant was the David Spencer Choir under Frank L. Tupman, which received 168 marks for its two selections: 1. awarding the Parit Brothers Limited Cup to this group, Dr. Stator assured the singers they thoroughly deserved it and that the cup was not just being given to them and nothing more. He said he was delighted to hear such an efficient choir. Though it had certain faults, it was vital in attack and striking in its rhythmic intensity.

MUSIC AND BUSINESS

Dr. Stator took this opportunity to observe how in Canada he had been struck by the work the business houses in the musical field. This had come to his notice particularly in Winnipeg. There, he said, a certain type of business man who affirmed he knew absolutely nothing about music and said so with a certain amount of pride. On the other hand, these were the same type of business men who, with a better vision, saw that music in his store would give him a better staff. The adjudicator told a story about his best choir boy at a certain cathedral where he had been organist. Dr. Stator had lost a gold sovereign and had asked the choir boys to look for it. He had been very much surprised when his best boy came to him with twenty shillings, saying he had found the pound and turned it into shillings because he thought Dr. Stator would prefer to have change and might find it useful. This, the adjudicator said, was an example of music and business vision being blended, and perhaps it was not an accident that that boy was now a leading business man in England.

Dr. Stator said he would rather be served in a store by a girl with a sense of rhythm than by one without. He added he would like to see two more enterprising business houses enter the festival next year.

The vocal duet class for tenor and bass and the male quartette class were adjudicated during the evening by George Dodds, Jack Clements and T. Lewis won the former with eighty-five marks to the eighty-three of the Orana Duet, and the Emmanuel Male Quartette retained the Victoria Male Choir's Challenge Cup with 170 marks to the 167 of the Mandra Male Quartette, which finished second in an entry list of four.

"Where are the others?" asked Mr. Dodds, in adjudicating the duet class, in which only two pairs entered. He repeated his remarks of the previous day about the advantages to be got from ensemble singing. The bad habits of soloists tended to be corrected and soloists must realize this.

In adjudicating the quartettes, Mr. Dodds remarked that one of the very worst quartette renditions he had ever heard had been the work of a provincial festival, men who perhaps commanded thirty-five guineas for a night's concert. He made out detailed criticisms of the four quartettes and said many things of a very helpful nature.

Later in the evening, Mr. Dodds came down to adjudicate eight reading sportingly undertaken by the Victoria Male Choir. This is a new departure in Victoria's festival. Seven marks out of ten was awarded the first reading and eight plus for the second.

The opening part of the evening's programme was taken up with recitals of several series by contestants who had won classes earlier in the day. Quodra School under O. H. E. Green sang as a composite choir, and Mark Ferguson, Ladyvina, winner of the girls' primary pianoforte; Doris Lythgow, Nanaimo, contralto prizewinner, and Robert Coburn, Vancouver, boys for thirteen vocal solo champions were also heard. Stanley F. Bulley, Christ Church Cathedral, gave a brief organ recital prior to the evening's festival events. Interest was added by Mr. Bulley's introductory remarks to his selections. A complete list of yesterday's winners follows:

HOPES SURTAX IS TEMPORARY

Finance Minister Speaks on New Levy Called For in Budget

The surtax which starts at 1 per cent on incomes over $5,000 and goes up to 18 per cent on incomes in excess of $47,500 is a temporary measure to help the government during the present crisis, Hon. J. W. Jones said during the second reading of the bill amending the Income Tax in the Legislature yesterday.

The tax was planned to help revenue without hitting the small wage earner. Companies were exempted, he said, but not individuals and provision was made so to prevent companies manipulating their profits so that shareholders would avoid the tax.

It was not the first time such a measure had been introduced in British Columbia. Mr. Jones informed the House, in 1917 the government imposed a surtax on the income tax. To-day the province faced a much greater crisis than then.

The course pursued in 1917, T. D. Pattullo, Opposition leader, replied, was to raise a condition that had been created by an administration that had been in office thirteen years and a new administration came in to find the treasury depleted. The administration that came in in 1916 left the credit of the province in excellent shape. This administration had increased the debt to the state when it came to power in 1916.

AID FOR MINERS IS REQUESTED

Ottawa, April 6.—The government was awaiting word from the government of British Columbia with regard to the condition of the coal miners in the Fernie district. Hon. Wesley A. Gordon, Minister of Mines, told A. W. Neill, Independent, Comox-Alberni, in the Commons yesterday afternoon. On the character of the representations made by the province would depend the measure of assistance the Dominion administration would extend to those miners, the minister declared.

Distress was prevalent in the Fernie area due to the closing down of several of the mines in the district.

Officials of the British Columbia Department of Mines this morning expressed the view that some misunderstanding must have arisen at Ottawa, as full details of production and employment, as to the Coast's West coalfield, had been in the possession of the authorities at Ottawa for some time.

TWO FILMS AT THE COLUMBIA

No other picture has the same spirit of mutual interest and kinship that a western has—particularly the Tim McCoy picture. At the completion of the usual Hollywood film the cast and production company disband and probably never see each other again—that is collectively.

In the filming of Westerns, however, the unit works as a sort of clan. In the McCoy picture, the entire troupe has worked together with the popular star for the past three years. He practically has the same director, same cameraman, same script girl at all times, with the members of his cast varying slightly to conform to story requirements.

Tim's latest film, "Man of Action," is now at the Columbia.

Also on the same programme is Joel McCrea in "The Sport Parade."

DOMINION THEATRE

Importance of the Fox Film production of Noel Coward's "Cavalcade," now at the Dominion Theatre, is indicated by the fact that it has the enthusiastic support of the Association of Motion Picture Producers.

Regarding the picture as one of the greatest ever produced in Hollywood, the Hays organization has interested numerous church and patriotic societies, women's clubs and other organizations in it, urging their support.

Directed by Frank Lloyd, it has Diana Wynyard, Clive Brook, Ursula Jeans, Una O'Connor, Herbert Mundin, Beryl Mercer, Frank Lawton, Irene Browne and Merle Tottenham heading the all-star cast.

The cast also includes such well-known favorites as Marion Burns, who comes to pictures from the New York stage, Arthur Pearson, Bert Hanlon, Emmett Corrigan, Edmund Breese, Onslow Stevens and Julia Swayne Gordon. David Howard, who has been particularly successful in transferring outdoor romances to the screen, directed the picture.

Ninety per cent of Al Johnson's long awaited United Artists picture, "Hallelujah, I'm a Bum," being shown at the Empire Theatre, is singing and comedy.

Hailed as the first screen offering of "photographic music" from start to finish, Johnson's picture gives him an opportunity to sing six new hit numbers. The star portrays the role of a happy-go-lucky vagabond, leader of a group of tattereddemons and eccentrics who make their headquarters in Manhattan's Central Park.

"The Lodger" Will Open at Empire

THE LODGER, the Ivor Novello film will open to-morrow at the Empire Theatre. Jack Hawkins plays the part and he endeavors to be as ruthless and resourceful as the newspaper crime man is supposed to be. To embellish a story and secure a front page "splash," he steals and publishes the portrait of his sweetheart over an incident she revealed—thereby running the risk of dismissal—and distorts the report of a police official into "exclusive information." Whether these are representations of what could possibly occur is beside the point, the incidents are amusing and certainly well put over.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

Ellsworth Vines and Bill Tilden Engage in Verbal War

Vincent Richards Thinks Tilden Could Whip Amateur Champ

Seven Stars Will Attempt Comebacks in Major Ball This Year

DAY by day the fires of the tennis war now being staged in the United States are being fed with more fuel. Ellsworth Vines, present U. S. singles champion, started saying he would not compete in the U.S. open championship, it being beneath the dignity of any amateur, or something like that. Bill Tilden replied by openly declaring Vines was afraid to meet the professional. Vines retorted that he could name three amateurs who could defeat Tilden in special competition. Now Vincent Richards, former Indian champion, announces he believes Tilden, although forty-one years of age, is capable of defeating the twenty-year-old Vines at any time in a special match.

Nobody is quite sure of Vines' ability. Tilden had to win four U.S. championships before he was popularly accepted as a dependable champion. While Vines has won the U.S. singles twice, he also has been guilty of some terrible tennis. Tilden used to take things easy when the going was important, but he could turn on the power at will and blast his opponent into defeat. Flashes of this same sort of genius have been shown by Vines, but few champions have suffered as many defeats as Vines since he won the title in 1931.

Major league baseball's seven big question marks this coming season are: Ducky Vance, Al Simmons, Charley Gelbert, Del Bissone, Travis Jackson, Burleigh Grimes and Tommy Thomas. They are great players who have been laid low by illness or injuries and are attempting comebacks. Brooklyn counted a lot last year on Bissone's hitting and Gelbert's ability on first base, but Vance, who has an infected tendon kept the big fellow back. Some say that Al Simmons' disappointing play last year was due to differences of opinion with officials of the Philadelphia Athletics and his unpopularity with the fans. But Vance's slump was partly due to a poisonous infection caused by bad teeth. He is expected to show a return to form with the Chicago Sox.

Jackson's knee was a constant worry to the New York Giants and a big detriment to the team's defence. Vance was bothered with a sore throat, which may have accounted for his showing with Brooklyn. Grimes, just a shadow of the great hurler who stopped the Athletics in the world series in 1921, was a loss with the Chicago Cubs. An ailing appendix, recently removed, caused the trouble.

Tommy Thomas, one of the aces of the Washington pitching staff, worked but little with a bad arm last season. The Senators missed him in a big way during the bid for the flag. Gelbert played well for the St. Louis Cardinals last season, but a hunting accident during the winter season Bissone, who was a big factor in the team's success, was feared one of his legs would be amputated. During the spring training season Bissone, Jackson and Thomas have indicated they are ready to display their old form. All three underwent operations during the winter. Jackson has been sliding into base with no thought of the trick knee. Bissone has been crashing out long hits and Thomas has been taking his place regularly in the box in exhibition games.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Babe Ruth will receive more money for playing ball this year than any team in the Pacific Coast League. Owner Tom Laid of San Francisco says salaries in the P.C.L. will not average $400 a month and none of the clubs will carry more than eighteen players. . . . But if the average salary were $400 and each club carried eighteen players the monthly payroll would be $7,200. . . . That means $86,400 for the season. . . . The P.C.L. has a total of 108 players. . . . The P.C.L. is a class A league, is supposed to rate next to the majors in importance.

Henry Rieder, Dubuque, Ia., won a twenty match boxing thirteen hours and twenty minutes, topping 19,463 pins during that period. His game average was 194.

Stefanos Zbyzsko, former world wrestling champion, has taken over the management of Jack Sherry, whom he believes will win the world title.

CENTRALS WIN RUGBY TITLE

Defeat St. Michael's Fifteen 13 to 0 in Final For Curtis Cup

Defeating St. Michael's School 13 to 0 at the Oak Bay Park yesterday afternoon, the Boys' Central rugby team captured the prize Curtis Cup. This marked the second rugby win for the Centrals in the last few days. Last week they won the senior city championship, while yesterday's victory gave them the junior title. The teams in yesterday's match were limited to a total weight of 1,500 pounds.

Early in the match Centrals went over for a try on a three-quarter move. Centrals scored from the twenty-five-yard line. Williams failed to convert from a difficult angle. Ten minutes later Williams added the second try when he scored from the posts on a deftly timed half-back pass. Barker converted. St. Michael's played hard for several minutes following the score and Centrals were forced to keep the ball. Centrals also showed great attacking power at intervals and on three occasions forced twenty-five-yard kicks.

About two minutes before the final whistle, after a great forward push in which Miller dribbled the ball into the clear, Cozier scored the last try and Barker converted with a splendid kick. G. C. Grant refereed.

The teams follow:

Boys' Central—Holt, Fairburn, R. Williams, Barber, Willard, Barber, Elford, Cozier, A. Williams, Conway, Lane, Miller, Stevenson and Acreman.

St. Michael's—Flaming, Beedham, Thorn, Field, Jeanneret, Nelson, Ford, Alexander, Ley, Gillespie, Massey, Izard, Davis, Sloan and Massey.

Prairie Club Shows Great Improvement in Winning Second Game of Western Final

Goalie Wood Has Brilliant Record

First Game of Final Against Eastern Titleholders at Vancouver Saturday

Vancouver, April 6.—A youthful band of puck chasers from the prairie ranges, Saskatoon Quakers, were resting to-day for their final bid against Moncton Hawks for Canada's emblem of senior amateur hockey, the Allan Cup.

Not since 1923 when Saskatchewan University lost out to Toronto Granites, has a team from the prairie province reached the final of Canada's premier amateur series. The first game of the final will be played here Saturday night.

Yesterday evening the red and white squad, reputed youngest team in Dominion senior ranks to-day, sped to a 2 to 0 triumph over Trail Smoke Eaters in the second game of the western Canada finals.

The two goals represented the total scoring of the series, the first game Monday night ending in a scoreless draw. Cooney Wood, veteran netminder for the prairie squad, who tips aside shots with a nonchalance equal to the great George Hainsworth, whose understudy he once was, added another 120 minutes of scoreless hockey to his already impressive total of 260 minutes.

QUAKERS IMPROVED

Quakers were a much improved team on Monday night. Playing a defensive game most of the way, they warded off the best of the British Columbia champions could muster. Although Wood was peppered from all angles by the Smoke Eaters' snipers, the Quaker defence so effectively bottled up the puck carriers that they had little chance to set themselves for deceptive shots, and most of Wood's saves were from dead-end drives. But even on the few occasions Smoke Eaters broke clear of the defence, Wood outguessed his opposition with almost uncanny skill.

Saskatoon entered the scoring column late in the second period, but two minutes to go, the Quaker line of Dewey, Scharfe and Bird swept in on the trail net. Clear through the defence, Scharfe whizzed a high shot, and Dupuis, who came out of the net and took the puck on his chest. Before he could get back into position, Dewey tripped, grabbed the rebound and whanged it home into the wide-open net.

In a desperate attempt to get back the counter-attack, Scharfe and Bird, who made a vain effort to catch him, flipped the disk past Dupuis in the nearest play of the series.

LINE-UPS

Saskatoon—Wood, goal; Piper and Wilson, defence; Rogers, Watkins, Hemmeling, Dewey, Scharfe, Bird and Lake, forwards.

Trail—Dupuis, goal; Murdoch and Jordan, defence; Andruschuk, Bucken, Brennan, Morris, Hanson, Wheatley and Kiefer, forwards.

OFFICIALS—Referee, Ken Paul; Judge of play, Harry Cameron.

SUMMARY

First period—No score. Penalties: Piper, Wilson.

Second period—1, Saskatoon, Dewey, 13.1. Penalties: Scharfe and Andruschuk.

Third period—2, Saskatoon, Scharfe, 13.40. Penalties: Wheatley, 2, Wilson.

YOUNG FRPO AWARDED BOUT

Portland Boxing Commission Upholds Verdict of Foul; Manley Fined $280

Portland, Ore., April 6.—The Portland boxing commission yesterday evening ruled by a vote of 3 to 1 that Young Frpo, Burke, Idaho, won on a foul from George Manley, Denver, in the main event of Tuesday night's fight card here.

Their ruling reversed the decision of Referee Tom Louttit, who ruled Manley's hand in victory after he floored Frpo for the full count in the third round. Frpo's claim of a foul was upheld by Dr. W. G. Scott, commission physician Tuesday night, and the commission following a hurried trip to Frpo's dressing room, ordered that the match should continue after a five minutes rest period. Manley, however, had dressed and gone to his hotel, and refused to return to the ring when informed of the commission's action.

The commission then fined Manley $280 for "insubordination, unsportsmanlike conduct, and disobedience to rules and regulations of the commission."

Western Canada Senior Men's Basketball Championship Will Be at Stake

Will Play Games On Willows Floor

Ribbons Will Engage Vancouver All-star Quintette Here on Saturday Night

Victoria Blue Ribbons will meet Raymond Union Jacks in the western Canada senior men's basketball finals at the Willows on April 12, 14 and 15, it was announced to-day by Jack Taylor, president of the Victoria and District Basketball League. The Union Jacks will leave Raymond on Monday and are expected to arrive here, either Tuesday afternoon or Wednesday morning.

The Blue Ribbons lifted the championship of British Columbia by a smashing victory over the University of Victoria, while the Union Jacks, Alberta winners, were declared western finalists, following the accident to members of the Winnipeg Toller, Manitoba champions.

As a final workout for the Ribbons before they engage in the crucial series with the Union Jacks, the Victoria champions will play an exhibition game at the Willows on Saturday night against the all-star Vancouver club. Leading players on several of the senior mainland teams are being brought over for the game, and one of the finest exhibitions of the game is looked for.

The complete line-up of the all-stars was received this morning from Vancouver and follows: "Red" Macdonald, Arnie Burnstead, Horace Meath of the Vancouver Province team; Jack Turner, Russ Kennington, Harvey McIntyre and Ed Armstrong of Sparlings, and Bob Osborne and Ken Wright of Varsity.

The first string team of the invaders will average six feet one inch. In a recent game this same club doubled the score on the New Westminster Advance. These players will engage in an exhibition game against Raymond at Vancouver on April 17.

The games at the Willows will be played in the main exhibition building. Work on the erection of bleachers to seat 2,000 persons is going ahead, and the complete game will be broadcast by the radio.

The winner of the Ribbons-Union Jacks series will enter the Canadian final and will meet the eastern champions either at Victoria or Lethbridge, which would be Raymond's home floor for such an important series, owing to the small size of the arena.

As a preliminary game Saturday, the Victoria Advance will meet Ryerson United, Vancouver, in the Coast final for the junior boys' championship. This fixture will commence at 7:30 o'clock.

Two preliminary games have been arranged for the evening of April 14. Two midges from the Victoria and Duncan will play in a game with five-minute periods. These clubs are composed of youngsters between the ages of ten and thirteen. Following this encounter the fifth Regina senior men will meet the Naima seniors in the second game of a series for the Winter Cup. The first game will be played at the Colwood rink recently purchased by the Regina senior men.

The Ribbons-Jacks series is expected to attract the largest crowd in the history of local basketball. This is the first time in history that a Victoria club has obtained the distinction of reaching a western final, and as a result local fans are displaying great interest over the outcome.

Raymond, Alta., April 6.—Raymond Union Jacks, Alberta senior basketball champions, defeated Shelby, Mont., all-stars here yesterday evening by 53 to 24 in a hard fought exhibition contest. Jacks leave here Monday for Victoria to meet the British Columbia titlists in the western Canada final.

GEORGE STRAITH WINS
In the men's par competition played at the Colwood rink recently George Straith was the winner, finishing 1 up. A. B. Christopher was the runner-up with a score of 2 down.

Chicago, April 6.—Kiki Cuyler returned to Chicago yesterday, and learned from a bone specialist that he will be out of the line-up until around July 4. Dr. Edwin W. Ryerson said, as he examined the fractured right ankle: "The bone is broken completely, a piece three inches long being severed and it is bent up as well as it should. It will probably be two months before it will be strong enough for baseball practice."

Jack Sharkey Wins Over Two 'Unknowns'

Quebec, April 6.—Jack Sharkey, world heavyweight boxing champion on a training-exhibition tour of Canada, conquered two opponents in less than ten minutes here yesterday evening. Sharkey disposed of his first opponent in forty-five seconds and his second in only two rounds. Both were "unknowns."

COAST BASEBALL

New York, April 6.—Apparently there is no such thing as keeping a secret in the big leagues. With spring here, the famous pockey, training seven horses for Col. Maxwell Howard, Dayton, Ohio, is getting ready to stage another comeback. "Each morning he can be seen at Belmont Park galloping one of his three-year-olds."

The Earl turned in his New York riding license last fall to organize a stable for Col. Howard, but said he planned to ride some of his own horses at Harve De Grace, Maryland, which opened April 15. Unlike the New York ruling, the Maryland Racing Commission also permits a trainer to ride.

"I only weigh 113 pounds stripped now," said Sande.

Philadelphia In Ice Play-off Win
Philadelphia, April 6.—Speedy Jack Pratt, centre ice star, registered a last period goal unassisted, yesterday evening to give the Philadelphia Arrows a 1 to 0 victory over Boston Cubs and first blood in the Canadian-American Hockey League play-offs.

Penticton Awarded Championship Meet
Vancouver, April 6.—British Columbia track and field championships for women will be held at Penticton on July 1 under the sponsorship of the Gyro Club of Penticton, and supervised by the British Columbia branch of the Women's Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada, according to an announcement by Secretary Ann Clark to-day. C. E. Barty, secretary of the Gyro Club, is in charge of all arrangements.

Outstanding women athletes in British Columbia are expected to compete. Winners at the Penticton meet will take part in the women's Dominion track and field championships, which are to be held in Vancouver early in August.

SWEEPSTAKES BILL SENT TO COMMONS

Measure Proposing Lotteries For Hospitals, Approved By Senate, Will Be Voted on By M.P.'s

Canadian Press
Ottawa, April 6.—It now rests with the House of Commons to decide whether sweepstakes will be permitted in Canada. Yesterday afternoon the Senate passed its final approval on Senator A. D. McRae's bill, and it now goes to the lower house.

As it finally passed the bill would permit one lottery to raise funds for hospital purposes each year in each province, providing the Attorney-General of the province approves and sets up a responsible committee to conduct it.

The bill as introduced by the Vancouver Conservative Senator, provided the Attorney-General in any province might authorize a sweepstake, the proceeds to go to a charitable institution or institutions.

The bill was carried on second reading by a substantial majority some weeks ago, but in committee it was considerably revised. The charitable institutions were limited to hospitals and the one-year limit was set.

Those who voted for third reading of the bill were: The Speaker (Hon. E. B. Blodden) and Senators Calder, Pope, Lynch-Staunton, Plim, Stanfield, Rainville, J. A. McDonald (N.B.), McEwen, White (Jembridge), Tanner, Sharpe, McKee, Macdonell, Marcotte, McLennan, Green, Barnard, Taylor, Benard, Beland, Casgrain, Murphy, Sir Allen Aylesworth, Lewis, Turgeon, Harmer, Logan, Prevost, Lacasse, Lawrence and Wilson—35.

Those who voted against sweepstakes were: Senator Meighen, Gordon, Smith, Fisher, Maclean, Gilling, J. A. Macdonald (Cape Breton), Copp, Foster, Desautels, Graham, Forbes, Tessier, Rankin, Macgillivray, Wilson (Rockfield), Hughes, Robinson, Sinclair, MacArthur, Hatfield, Parent, Horsey and Spence—24.

Senator J. P. B. Casgrain, Liberal, Montreal, protested this was a reflection on every member of the Senate, so Senator Hughes withdrew the statement.

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING
St. Hon. George F. Graham, Liberal, Ontario, said it was the greatest honor to him at this time to get people back on the road to making a living. The present depression was due largely to a large proportion of the world's population trying to live without working, to get something for nothing.

Senator Lynch-Staunton, Conservative, Ontario, insisted that hospitals were supported out of taxes and not by contribution, and this bill would make no difference in that respect. He supported the bill.

Senator Lawrence A. Wilson, Liberal, Quebec, objected to the imputation that lotteries would contaminate the people. As a matter of fact he believed most of the tickets in Canadian sweepstakes would be bought by Americans and Canada would have the benefit of their money.

Senator G. Gordon, Conservative, Ontario, believed many contemplated beggars would be lost to hospitals if they became associated with sweepstakes.

AMERICAN DERBY PURSE IS SLICED
Chicago, April 6.—The added money value of the American Derby, which was decided at Washington Park in June, was slashed in half yesterday, from $50,000 to $25,000. C. W. May, general manager of the Washington Park Jockey Club, also announced other stakes would be reduced in keeping with general business conditions. The American Derby will be run either June 3 or 10, depending upon the date of the Belmont Stakes in New York. The race, over a mile and a quarter, is for three-year-olds.

TAX TATTLERS BUSY IN EAST

Collectors Dept. Flooded With Anonymous Tips Against Persons Hiding Out

Einstein Walks Into Refrigerator Publicity Stunt; Norma Shearer Stunts For Baby

New York, April 6.—If you have been grudgingly admiring Uncle Sam for his keen nose in detecting those who have tried to cheat a little on your income taxes, this may disillusion you. It seems that every year anonymous letters by the thousands pour into the Internal Revenue Collector's office suggesting that he look into this or that John Doe's return, pointing out just where John cheated. Some of these letters are written on fine stationery, in a beautiful hand. Others are typed. Many come on ruled paper. "A Friend" is the usual signature.

These letters are said to come from jealous brothers and sisters, ex-business partners, ex-wives and ex-husbands, men or women who consider they have been deceived in some way they sell on from mothers-in-law, even from the children of the man or woman named. "Squealing" seems to offer them a way to revenge.

FRUGALITY PLUS
"Run, Little Chillum," the new all-colored show hit, was produced by a lawyer, Robert Rockmore. During the six weeks' rehearsal, he housed and fed his cast of 175 singers on $50 a week by converting two apartment houses into dormitories and feeding them mostly on rabbit and other cheap foods.

HIGHLY SCIENTIFIC
The nearest trick of the week was effected by a mild-mannered publicity man for a mechanical refrigerator company. Somehow he got wind of the reception that the pacifists were giving at the Waldorf Astoria in honor of the great Einstein. The refrigerator company was having a convention, with full display of their new models, in another suite at the same hotel. The publicity man, just as the meeting finished, button-holed Einstein and, in his affable manner, told the celebrated scientist that he had some machinery that he thought would interest him.

Immediately following the reception, he whisked Einstein away from Mrs. Einstein, Elmer Rice, Norman Thomas and dozens of other important people who waited to speak to him, and escorted him up to the refrigerator display room. Then, to the delight of the half a dozen high-powered scientists and the two hard-boiled ex-news photographers waiting to "shoot" pictures, Einstein got down on his hands and knees to see how the refrigerator worked. Then he stood up, peered quizzically into this compartment and that, and at every pose, flashlight bulbs announced that the photographers had got their man.

THE INSPECTION over Einstein courtously shook hands with the man who had been "nice" enough to show him his new machinery and left, apparently unaware that he had been photographed for display purposes.

GYMNASTIC NORMA
At the movie tea given for Miss Norma Shearer at the Waldorf Astoria, Miss Shearer, Irving Thalberg, her movie magnate husband, and their little two-and-a-half-year-old junior, presented as pretty a domestic picture as any old-fashioned early American could wish.

Thalberg, delicate, sensitive, far from well how and on route for a year's vacation in Europe, with his wife and child, is never too tired or too busy to tell Junior his bedtime story, it seems. Also to answer questions, Norma, however, wanting to mean something definite to their child, decided on the merry-making role. She turns hand-springs, walks on her hands, turns cartwheels and chins to the vast enjoyment and appreciation of her fair little curly-haired son.

PROUD MR. TUNNEY
Leaving the Shearer tea, we encountered Gene Tunney in a group ringing the doorbell in the next tower apartment. When he heard voices, Tunney turned his back and stuck his chin into his big collar. Seems he is getting the reputation for having a complex about crowds always shouting "Here comes Tunney." Cramps his style with his Social Registerite friends.

"Y" DRIVE IS PROGRESSING

Workers Report Steady Move Toward Objective of $10,000

Steady progress toward the objective of $10,000 set in the Y.M.C.A.'s drive for funds was reported by committee workers at the second campaign meeting, held yesterday evening.

Twelve teams of workers submitted reports in addition to a "special" group handled by P. E. Winslow. Collections to date were reported as $2,509.59 and those of yesterday were $1,301.50.

Towards the end of the week the total is expected to swell rapidly as the canvassers reap the crop of their preliminary efforts.

About 100 business men are actively engaged in the campaign to gain financial support for the "Y." They are divided into three divisions, one under W. Ellis Brown, one under W. T. Strath and another under Mr. Winslow. Each division is separated into teams and the teams have their own objectives.

One team has already gained thirty-five per cent. of its objective and others are close behind. In the total Division One has fourteen per cent. of its objective. Division Two twenty-one per cent. and the specials have twenty-five per cent.

Another campaign meeting will be held this evening for further reports.

Gene's Left Thumb At Back of Shaft

Don't take a grip that will make the hands battle each other in the golf swing—that was the gist of yesterday's installment in this series, with stress being laid on the necessity of finger grip, which is, of course, applicable whether the overlapping or interlocking method is employed.

But what of the thumbs? Here there are some important details to be looked after. Study the grip of Gene Sarazen, sketched above, as he takes it for long shots. Most golfers place their thumbs on the same way. Gene's left thumb is not on top of the shaft, but on the right, or back side of it. Neither is his right thumb on top of the shaft. It lies across its front obliquely.

The thumbs are less flexible than the fingers. In the above position they do not oppose each other. And with them in this position the hands are properly related to the shaft. The left is well on top, which facilitates left hand control in the backswing and aids wrist cock. The right hand is not too much under the shaft, which would tend to remove the weight of the club from the fingers to the palm.

Overstrict Parents Should Beware Lest They Drive Their Children to Underhand Methods, Warns Dorothy Dix—Beleaguered Wife Should Fight Her Way to Freedom

DEAR MISS DIX—I am seventeen. My parents are very strict. They don't allow me to have boy friends or go to dances. Everywhere I go I have to take my younger sister, who sits on me and hurries home to tell my mother if a boy spoke to me. I am a normal girl just like the rest of the girls who have dates night after night, but when I even take a walk with a boy I have to do it on the sly and lie to my parents about where I have been. I hate to do this, but what else can I do? I am not thinking about running out every night with Tom, Dick and Harry, but I would like to go out once a week to a show or to the dance at the parish house or have a friend at my home.

I am so tired of not having any pleasure I have tried several times to kill myself, but at the last minute I jacked the courage, and so I live on in my prison. When I am eighteen can I leave home and get away from my mother's and father's tyranny?

SALLY.

Answer—I wonder if this overstrict mother, and many other mothers like her, have ever thought that their daughters look upon them as jailers and regard their homes as a prison against whose bars and bolts they have beaten themselves in vain until they are so desperate they are ready to commit suicide in despair of obtaining a little liberty?

I wonder if this overstrict mother, and many other mothers like her, realize that nobody ever yet loved their jailer, or appreciated that they were being kept locked up for their own good? I wonder if they realize that never can be broken a barrier between themselves and their daughters that never can be broken down, that they are driving their girls away from home and losing every chance they might have had to protect them and help them?

Of course, these martinet mothers and fathers, who keep their daughters under lock and key and deny them the freedom and the pleasures that all of the other girls about them have, say that they are trying to protect them and save them from committing the follies of youth.

It has been a long time since they were boys and girls and, with that curious amnesia that comes to parents, they have forgotten how they wanted to do things when they were young, how their feet ached to dance, how they used to enjoy going buggy riding, how they used to giggle and carry on endless conversations about nothing. So it seems to them a very small thing to keep Sally at home when all the other girls are going to a party, and to say NO when Sally wants to go to the movies and to say NO, NO, NO when Sally desires to ask a boy to the house.

They remind Sally that she is ONLY seventeen, and that she is too young to have dates. Nothing but a baby. It is absurd. They won't think of such a thing, but all the other girls of seventeen are having dates and stepping out with boy friends, and Sally suffers as only seventeen can suffer when it is denied a pleasure and is left out of things and sits at home with mother and father, hating them for the pleasure they have denied her and eating out her heart in bitterness and loneliness.

And mother and father haven't enough sense to see that even age has been speeded up, and that a girl of seventeen is as sophisticated and knows as much about life and is as capable of taking care of herself as her mother was at twenty-one. And so there is no reason on that score to try to keep Sally locked up in the nursery. And, in the second place, it doesn't make sense to try to keep a girl from playing around with the boys she likes to school with or works with. And, in the third place, to keep young people apart is something that can't be done. Nor can you keep girls from doing what all the other girls do, and it is a waste of effort and temper and time to attempt it.

All the results that the overstrict parents achieve are that they make their children lie to them and force them to do in an underhand way the things they would be glad to do frankly and openly and honestly. And it breaks the parents' hold on the children and makes them regard their father and mother as tyrants instead of their best friends.

In the case of girls this is particularly disastrous, because it not only makes the girls meet the boys secretly, but it causes them to be so boy-crazy that they pick up with any sort of a lad and it makes them so mad for pleasure that they will go to any sort of place to get it. It is the mothers who give their daughters a judicious amount of freedom and who make their boy friends welcome at home, who know where their daughters go and with whom they associate and are able to guide and protect them.

The overstrict mother defeats her own purpose.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—What can a woman do who is married to a man she can't live with, yet can't leave him? For years I have been married to a man who has made my life a hell on earth and who often boasts that he can be as mean to me as he wishes because I have no place to go and no way to make a living if I left him. He insults me in every way he can. He treats me like a slave. He does not permit me to have any women friends, or to talk to anyone except his mother and himself, and he has fits of rage that resemble nothing so much as insanity, but I have two little children, no money, and am trained to no profession. I am young, good-looking and fairly intelligent. Must the remainder of my life be spent like this?

DISTRACTED.

Answer—I should say not. No woman in these days need be enslaved unless she is so poor-spirited and cowardly that she hasn't the courage to fight her way to freedom.

Do you remember Barrie's play, "The Twelve-Pound Look"? It told the story of a woman who was married to a fat, fatuous, conceited, overbearing man who regarded a mere wife as a doormat to be trampled on. Well, this woman bought a typewriter and she practiced on it until she got skillful enough to earn $12 a month, which she could live on, and then she simply walked out to freedom. And her husband married again, but he was a little bit more careful of his treatment of his second wife when he saw her also begin to get the $12 look in her eyes.

There is a tip in that story for you. Start to work to acquire some trade. Acquire skill in some work by which you can support yourself and your children, and you will not have to endure a brutal husband. And perhaps when he realizes that you are no longer in his power he will treat you decently.

Every girl in the world should be taught some way of supporting herself just because it makes her independent of her husband, and if she gets one who mistreats her she can simply walk out on him.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I have a son nineteen years old who since he left school has done nothing but write. He will work hard at that for a while, and then when his story is rejected he will go into a fit of despondency and be idle for a while, then return to his writing full of enthusiasm. In the meantime I have to support him and I do not make much. So far all he has ever sold amounts to $10, and although I am his mother I see no signs of genius in him. Should he go to work or continue his writing?

A. C.

Answer—I think he should get a job and support himself instead of being a parasite on his poor old mother. Let genius burn at night. If he has the sacred flame, it will flare up. There are no mute inglorious Miltons nowadays.

It will not hurt the boy to come to grips with life before he writes, because it is only those who have lived and suffered and had experiences who have anything to say to the world.

Mark Twain, once said to a young man: "Write for two years. Give what you write to any paper that will publish it. If by the end of that time you have not attracted attention and nobody is willing to pay you for what you write you may be sure you have chosen the wrong career." I don't think that advice could be bettered.

DOROTHY DIX.

Hyakutake Gives Address in Japanese: Ships' Bands Play "Pinafore" Selections

Vancouver, April 6.—Vice-admiral Gengo Hyakutake and officers of the two Japanese training ships Iwate and Yakumo now in port were guests of the city at a dinner in Hotel Vancouver yesterday evening.

Vancouver citizens had the rather unique experience of listening to an address which they could not understand. It was the remarks of the vice-admiral who spoke in Japanese, subsequently translated into English by one of his officers. In his speech, the vice-admiral expressed the appreciation of himself and members of the visiting squadron for their welcome referred to the peace and goodwill which has existed between Great Britain and Japan for many years and expressed the hope that it may continue.

The toast to the King was proposed by Mr. Monomura, acting Consul for Japan in Vancouver. Immediately following, Mayor E. D. Taylor offered the toast to the Emperor of Japan. His Worship reminded his listeners that in 1925, Vancouver had welcomed the brother of Vice-admiral Hyakutake to Vancouver. The mayor went on to express the hope that the

The toast to the vice-admiral was proposed by Commander V. G. Brodeur, R.C.N. commander-in-charge of the naval station in Esquimalt. The vice-admiral, in return, gave the toast to the mayor and the city of Vancouver.

Thanks for the civic reception to Japan's representative was expressed by Mr. Monomura. He reminded the audience that Vancouver, as the western port of Canada, benefits greatly by the trade between the Dominion and Japan.

"And these ships now in port," he said, "bring a cargo of goodwill and friendship from Japan."

Among the guests were Commander Sano of the Japanese Legation in Ottawa, and Lieut.-Commander Yokoyama, naval attaché of the Japanese Embassy at Washington, D.C.

A feature of the function was a programme supplied by the band of the training ships. Included in the band's selections was music from Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pinafore."

CATTLE GO TO GREAT BRITAIN

St. John, N.B., April 6.—Seventy-five head of western cattle, the first shipment in more than twenty-five years to be "finished" in New Brunswick for the British market, left here to-day on the steamer Concordia.

Agricultural officials believe the shipment may open to farmers in certain sections of the Maritimes a new channel for profitable disposition of surplus hay, grain and root crops, while greatly reducing their fertilizer bill.

It will also indicate the potentialities in this part of Canada of raising beef cattle for export.

The cattle in this shipment were brought to New Brunswick from Manitoba last November. Livestock men here to-day said these cattle equalled the average stock sent from western Canada to Great Britain.

Vancouver Exports Big Grain Amounts

Hon. H. H. Stevens Expects Vancouver to Break Its Record of 1928-29

Ottawa, April 6.—The port of Vancouver exported more wheat during the first eight months of the present crop year than for the whole of the crop year 1931-32, according to Customs figures issued yesterday. Actual exports during 1931-32 was 74,076,086 bushels as compared with 74,589,411 bushels for the eight months ending March 31 of this year.

Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, issued to-day a statement which said: "It is a remarkable showing for the progressive port of Vancouver, which incidentally has maintained its position as the leading wheat port of the world and the greatest of all year-round ports of Canada."

"I have not the slightest doubt," added Mr. Stevens, "that the port of Vancouver will this year break its own export record of 84,390,000 bushels made in the crop year of 1928-29."

Vancouver, April 6.—Grain space fixtures yesterday morning on exchange totaled about 500,000 bushels, and brokers state that all available April space, excepting some limited tonnage for the continent, is now fixed. It is not believed the April export will exceed 6,000,000 bushels. This will be less than half of last April when 12,000,000 bushels were exported.

There are ships in port to load 1,200,000 bushels, and balance of April bookings acknowledged to date are 2,300,000 bushels. Elevator stocks at 8 a.m. yesterday were 11,535,480, all grains, and railways report 1,071,700 bushels on cars in yards here or at route west.

During the past week 1,001,970 bushels were exported, and the total for the season to date is 78,330,784 bushels. Exports at this date last season were 55,877,255 bushels.
